Cool Fuel

Q. Will gasoline freeze? If so, at what temperature?
N.N., Long Beach.

A. Depending upon its composition, gasoline will freeze anywhere from minus 60 degrees to minus 160 degrees Fahrenheit, according to Dr. Roger Bauer, chairman of the chemistry department at California State College at Long Beach.

Clubwoman

Q. My recently widowed, 21-year-old daughter is moving to Long Beach to be near me. She has no children and will find time heavy on her hands. Is there an organization made up of girls about her age where she can find some companionship? B.O., Long Beach.

GRAFFITI by Leary

TOO MANY ACTRESSES ARE UNSUITED FOR THEIR ROLES

A. Your daughter might like to join Bachelorettes, an organization designed for young women 21 and older who live, work or attend school in Long Beach. The club has several philanthropic activities, including working in the gift shop at Memorial Hospital. It also sponsors public dances and informal get-togethers. Membership fees are $15 initiation and $20 a year dues, said Barbara Kulik, club treasurer. ACTION LINE will send you information on how to contact Miss Kulik or Ann Millie, club president. Your daughter might also like to join the Never on Friday Club of Long Beach, which is open to single men and women including widows and divorcees, between the ages of 21 and 35. The club sponsors dances on Friday and Saturday nights and tours and excursions for single people. The membership fee is $6 per year. For more information, call 435-9191 or write the club at 668 E. Ocean Blvd., Suite 1201, Long Beach, Calif. 90802.

Yew Lose

Q. I have a yew tree on my property in Wolf Creek, Ore. About 20 years ago, and old-timer told me to sell this tree separately from my timber as yew wood is used for making archer's bows and is quite valuable. Is this true? G.A., Lakewood.

A. The hard, fine-grained wood was used by North America Indians to make bows, but modern archers rely chiefly on fiberglass. Norm Richards, a bow manufacturer and owner of Richard's Archery, 6001 Whittier Blvd., East Los Angeles, told ACTION LINE that during the 1930's and 40's, bows were made from yew wood, hedgeswood and lemon wood. Yew wood was considered very good because of its strength, durability and elasticity. Now, most bows are made from layers of fiberglass and laminated maple wood, and there is no market for yew wood.

Town Hall

Q. My husband was asked to join Town Hall of California. Can you tell us about this organization? Does it have any political affiliations? Mrs. J.B., Long Beach.

A. Town Hall, a major Southern California men's forum, is a nonpartisan and nonprofit organization, said Nelson McCook Jr., chairman of the Long Beach Advisory Committee. It is described as an "impartial, educational organization devoted to clarifying basic issues confronting a democratic society. Its bias is a free society; its operation procedure, discussion." The 5,600-member organization was founded in 1937 in Los Angeles. It is funded through membership contributions and foundation support. The luncheon club meets weekly in Los Angeles and once a month in Long Beach. Some of the recent speakers at the luncheons have been former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Sen. George Murphy, Bishop Gerald Kennedy and Dr. Charles F. Richter, professor of seismology at Caltech. Members also are invited to participate in special interest groups, such as economics, oceanography and intercultural relations. Condensations of speeches and reports of some of the special interest groups are sent to members through the Town Hall Journal. Tape recordings of the Town Hall lectures are sent to radio stations throughout Southern California. For more information, contact Town Hall of California, in care of the Pacific Coast Club, 830 E. Sea Power

Q. What company made the engines used on the submarine chasers during World War II. My friend says they were General Motors and I say Packard. G.M., Anaheim.

A. The engines on the small patrol boats were made by General Motors Corp., Fairbanks Morse Power Systems and Electromotive Co., said Richard Bassett of the Navy Ship Systems Command in Washington, D.C. The engines were diesel and most were 16 cylinders. They powered three classes of submarine chasers — 110 foot long, 136 foot long and 173 foot long. The smallest class could reach a speed of about 15 knots. A crew of between 55 and 60 officers and men usually manned the submarine chasers. Bassett said that some 600 submarine chasers were in operation during World War II, but most have been disposed of and he knows of none in operation now. During World War II, the boats, armed with depth charges 3-inch guns and 40 mm antiaircraft guns, were fairly effective in damaging submarines, Bassett added.

2 'A'-Powered Generators Set in Ocean

By BAXTER OMOHUNDRO
From Our National Bureau

WASHINGTON — Two nuclear-powered generators have been set on the oceanbed off Southern California, the Atomic Energy Commission announced Friday.

The AEC said the experimental generators — powered by long-lived strontium-90 — were placed on the seabed at depths of 60 and 130 feet off San Clemente Island, about 50 miles from the mainland, this week.

The units, developed for the AEC by the 3M Co. of St. Paul, are being tested to prove their reliability for a variety of oceanographic tasks.

A third unit will be put on the sea bottom in the same area this summer as part of joint Navy-AEC tests being conducted by the Navy Undersea Research Center at Pasadena and the Navy Radiological Defense Laboratory at San Francisco.

The AEC said the units, known as SNAP-21, will be tested at increasingly greater depths for up to two years.

The commission stressed that the SNAP (for Systems for Nuclear Auxiliary Power) pose no threat to either human or marine life.

The strontium-90 fuel for the generators is encased in two high-strength, nickel alloy casings with a combined thickness of nearly a quarter of an inch, the announcement said.

Weighing 700 pounds, the 16-inch diameter, 28-inch high cylinders are designed to operate at depths as great as four miles for up to five years, constantly generating 10 watts of power.

The AEC said they are designed to meet "an increasing need for long endurance and highly reliable energy sources" for things such as navigation aids, seismological stations and ocean resource equipment.

Although it was not mentioned in the AEC announcement, they could be used in the electronic submarine detection network the Navy has operating off our shores.

Conventional electrical generators used for such purposes have an average life of six months or less.

The AEC said that the units are designed to contain the strontium-90 "under normal operating and

Reagan Package

By BOB SCHMIDT
From Our State Bureau

SACRAMENTO — Republican Assemblymen capped a confusing day in the Legislature Friday by sending to the Assembly floor a heavily amended version of one portion of Gov. Ronald Reagan's tax reform plan.

One amendment, which the governor said later he strongly opposes, would eliminate the sales tax on cigarettes. The sales tax on all other items currently subject to the tax would be raised from five to six cents, however.

Assembly Speaker Robert I. Monagan scheduled a formal session of the lower house at 10 a.m. today to consider the bill amended and approved Friday by the Ways and Means Committee.

In one of a number of unusual developments Friday, all Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee voted to amend the governor's proposed program, and all Democrats present voted to keep Reagan's plan unchanged.

The apparent discord in Republican ranks was emphasized when Gov. Reagan issued a press release after the committee action stating "I have not seen, nor have I had an opportunity to consider any of these proposed amendments, but I am definitely opposed to some of the amendments reported to have been proposed this morning."

"I WISH to make it perfectly clear that I still

Still No Sign of Missing Avalon Cook

An air-and-sea search for a missing 24-year-old cook believed lost off Santa Catalina Island was to resume at dawn today.

A sheriff's helicopter, the Coast Guard and private boats began hunting for Terrence Watt, 228 Beacon St., Avalon, about noon Friday after his 16-foot boat was found drifting four miles north of Frog Rock on the northeast side of the island.

The CG halted its search at about 10:30 a.m., but the sheriff's department and private boaters continued to hunt for Watt until nightfall.

A spokesman for Arno's Restaurant, Avalon, where Watt worked, said the young man set off on a fishing trip at about 4:30 p.m. Thursday and had not been heard from since.

Deputies said there were two fish and fishing gear in the boat but no clue as to what happened to Watt.

Winnie Ruth Judd Recaptured

MARTINEZ (UPI) — Winnie Ruth Judd, notorious trunk murderess of the 1930s, was captured Friday, seven years after she escaped for the seventh time from an Arizona mental hospital.

Sheriff's deputies seized Mrs. Judd while investigating a still unsolved murder. She is not a suspect in the Martinez slaying.

Winnie Ruth, now 65, became known to millions as the "Tiger Woman" when she was arrested in 1931 and convicted of killing two young women who had been her close friends. Their dismembered bodies were found in a bloody trunk in Los Angeles.

Neatly dressed and leading two poodles, Mrs. Judd was taken into custody Friday at the home of a doctor in the community of Danville, Calif., where she was employed as a housekeeper.

Sheriff Walter Young said she told him she had been living in the Los Angeles area and in Piedmont, Calif., during recent years.

Using the name Marian Lane, she denied her real identity, but the sheriff said it has been established by fingerprints.

The sheriff said Mrs. Judd would be returned to Arizona. Under a sentence of death for the slayings, she was saved by being declared insane after 72 hours before her scheduled hanging in 1932. The sentence has since been commuted to life in prison if she is ever found to be sane.

An automobile registered to her under the name Marian Lane led to her capture. The car was seen near the home of

PRESIDENT GREET'S CANADA PREMIERE PIERRE ELLIOT TRUDEAU
Friendship Ceremony Occurred on St. Lawrence Seaway Dam, Massena, N.Y.

Nixon, Trudeau Hail U.S.-Canada Links

MONTREAL (UPI) — President Richard M. Nixon and Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau celebrated Canadian-U.S. friendship Friday in ceremonies ranging from New York state to Montreal observing the 10th anniversary of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Referring to the seaway, Trudeau compared it to the "good fence that makes good neighbors. May that ditch long run between our two nations as a sign of friendship."

U.S.-Canadian relations, said Nixon, could serve as "an example for the world to follow."

THE demonstration of international amity was marred while Nixon was speaking. A bearded youth, believed to be an antiwar demonstrator, rushed up a knoll toward the stage waving a banner and shouting "Nixon assassin."

U.S. and Canadian secret service men moved in and seized him within 100 feet of the President and the prime minister. Nixon kept right on talking as the youth was dragged away.

A fleet of 13 helicopters brought Nixon and Trudeau and accompanying aides, family members and other dignitaries here from Massena, N.Y. on the St. Lawrence River. They landed on a soccer field on the island of Saint-Helene and motored to a restaurant, the Helene de Champlain, for a private reception.

They then departed by limousine to the Place de Nations Stadium, passing several exhibits at the Canadian exposition, "Man and His World."

NIXON had met Trudeau about two hours earlier at the Monument to International Friendship on Moses-Saunders power dam at Massena, driving two miles to the Dwight D. Eisenhower locks, a key link with the St. Lawrence Seaway, to commemorate the seaway's decade of water commerce.

In Montreal, Trudeau introduced Nixon "as our greatest friend and ally" and in obvious reference to the Vietnam conflict, Trudeau told Nixon "you are head of a great nation with immense resources and an extraordinary people which have known great difficulties and which we know your people will solve in the spirit of equity and friendship."

Nixon said the first man to land on the moon "will be an American" and he will be "a man of peace, and a man of the world."

"We recognize here, in this place of nations, that within a month, when the first man lands on the moon, it will happen that he will be an American, but it is significant to note that when he lands, he will come in peace and

Scientists Feared Sea Pollution

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Taking the advice of scientists, the Army announced Friday it would burn and deactivate most of the 25,500 tons of surplus poison gas it wants to get rid of instead of shipping it across the country for disposal at sea.

The Army announcement came two days after a select committee of the National Academy of Sciences rejected the Army's original plan to ship the gas to Earle, N.J., by train and then sink it in the Atlantic. The scientists said this posed the danger of a possible "catastrophic explosion" and might kill life in the sea.

There are 418 so-called "coffins" containing nerve gas rockets stored at Anniston, Ala., and Blue Grass, Ky. The rockets are in heavy steel boxes which are welded tight and then encased in concrete.

THE ACADEMY said that some way should be found to dispose of these at some Army installation, but added if this was impossible they could be taken out in the Atlantic and dumped in 7,200 feet of water.

The Army said it would call together experts to see if a way could be found to dispose of the "coffins" on land.

The Army said it would burn liquid mustard gas, stored in one-ton steel containers at Rocky Mountain Arsenal, Colo., in accordance with the academy's recommendations.

It was planning to chemically deactivate 12,000 tons of nerve gas also stored there.

The nerve gas would be rendered harmless by using a chemical process in which the gas would be converted by making it take up the hydrogen in water.

Red Guns Pound Ben Het Fortress

SAIGON, Saturday — Communist gunners subjected the isolated Ben Het fortress to its heaviest bombardment of the seven-week siege Friday, hitting it with 445 shells in round-the-clock firing. Military spokesmen said today the heavy shelling caused light casualties but no fatalities and that the Green Beret camp was in no danger of falling to the North Vietnamese. Earlier Friday, U.S. cargo planes, flying through a smokescreen to foil North Vietnamese gunners, dropped 40 tons of food, water and ammunition into the fortress. The airstrip was preceded by saturation raids by B-52s against an estimated 1,500 North Vietnamese troops in the hills around Ben Het.

Israeli Jets Over Cairo

LONDON — Four Israeli jet fighters flew an unprecedented reconnaissance mission over Cairo on June 17 and got away without being fired on despite prompt radar warnings when they crossed into Egypt. The Israeli Mirage planes circled over the Egyptian capital freely for six or seven minutes before a dozen Egyptian MIG jet fighters were scrambled to intercept them. But it was too late and the Egyptian planes could not catch the intruders. Diplomatic reports said that as a result of the incident, the two top Egyptian air force commanders were fired, a drastic overhaul of the air defense system was ordered and all those responsible for the foulup were court-martialed.

Czechs Call for Boycotts

PRAGUE — Leaflets circulated in Prague Friday called for passive demonstrations and boycotts to mark the first anniversary of the Soviet-led invasion in August. Communist party leaders moved to suppress the rising underground protests. In railroad and bus stations, movie houses, theaters, stores, restaurants, coffee houses and newsstands the typewritten leaflets cropped up, calling for observance of "The Day of Shame." They were addressed, "Dear Citizens," and signed "Students and Workers."

Student Melee Over Rocky

BUENOS AIRES — Students firing pistols and shouting anti-American slogans battled police and firebombed American businesses in the Argentine capital and two interior cities Friday night, protesting the visit Sunday of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York. One student was killed and a policeman wounded by pistol fire. Students demonstrating in the capital shouted "Rockefeller out, Rockefeller out!" and retreated behind bonfires they had built in the streets when police approached with tear gas.

Evans Inquiry Adjourns

SUBIC BAY, Philippines — The six-man U.S.-Australian board of inquiry investigating the June 3 collision between the U.S. destroyer Frank E. Evans and the Australian carrier Melbourne heard its 78th and final witness Friday and adjourned to assess the blame. Although the panel has no powers to punish and will not specifically recommend legal action, it is likely to find that the Evans was to blame for the crash that killed 74 of her crew members. No date was given for completion of its report.

Dixie Hospital Strike Settled

CHARLESTON, S.C. — Agreement was reached Friday to end the bitter 13-week-old strike by Negro hospital workers at the state medical college hospital which brought civil rights demonstrations and scattered violence to this port city. The Negro workers who marched in the streets behind the Rev. Ralph Abernathy and Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr. won a pledge that all strikers, including 12 who were fired, would be rehired. Civil rights leaders immediately set out to free Abernathy, who has been in jail since leading a protest march early Saturday which ended in violence, on bond so he could join in a mass rally. The settlement did not include sought-after union recognition, but the hospital officials agreed to new grievance procedures for employees and the organization of a credit union.

F111 'Safe Now'

WASHINGTON — The Air Force lifted flying curbs on its troubled F111 fighter Friday and a general declared "it's a safe airplane now." Starting next month, some 140 to 150 F111s will undergo wing strengthening at the Fort Worth, Tex., plant of General Dynamics Corp. at a total cost of about $15 million. The government will pay about 75 per cent. The latest problem with the F111, a plane burdened with problems since its birth as the TFX, centered around wing cracks. Last October the Air Force restricted the amount of stress to which an F111 might be subjected in flight.

Yield to Welfare Pressure

WASHINGTON — The House yielded to the reality of growing welfare rolls Friday and voted to remove the limit Congress had placed on federal funds for aid to dependent children. Only a Senate formality and White House approval stood in the way of repeal of the freeze which had been a controversy between the states and federal government since it was adopted two years ago. The freeze was part of the Social Security Act of 1967 and was designed to prod the states into reducing their rolls by establishing day care centers and getting the mothers of the dependent children to work.

Higher Withholding Extended

WASHINGTON — The House, anticipating the income tax surcharge will be extended soon, Friday passed and sent to the White House a bill to keep taking 10 per cent more in withholding taxes out of workers' paychecks. Members approved the higher withholding rate for 31 days, through July, although the 10 per cent surcharge expires Monday. The House is set to vote on extending the surcharge itself Monday and leaders of both parties predicted it would pass.

Firebombings in Kokomo

KOKOMO, Ind. — Firebombs ignited a grocery store and a lumber company Friday as officials slapped a curfew on a troubled section of the city that underwent racial violence Thursday. Firemen, answering the calls without sirens and red lights, in an attempt to avoid the sniper fire they experienced Thursday night, extinguished the two fires.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS

50 Year Romance

Combined News Services

It was 50 years ago today that a freshly-discharged artillery captain and his childhood sweetheart were married in a little church and settled down in the sprawling white frame house in Independence, Mo., where they still live.

The wedding rated a respectable 28 lines of type of the next day's Kansas City Star. But it received little attention anywhere else in a nation more concerned with signing of the Versailles Treaty and the pending fight between heavyweight champion Jess Willard and challenger Jack Dempsey.

The couple has seen a lot of excitement and attention since then, but their golden wedding anniversary finds former President and Mrs. Harry S. Truman once again living the peaceful, secluded life of home. The Trumans like to keep family affairs in the family, and their anniversary was planned to be private with an exchange of gifts.

Truman, who turned 85 last month, appears seldom in public now and leans heavily on a cane. Mrs. Truman, 84, displays more white hair but otherwise appears amazingly little changed from her years in the White House.

RED RHYTHM

In her first appearance in Czechoslovakia, Ella Fitzgerald was greeted Friday by rhythmic hand-clapping Communist style. Then she sang "All Right, Okay, You Win" and the applause became syncopated. There was a roar when Miss Fitzgerald, after a little clowning on the stage, chanted: "In the sunshine, I am shouting, I am screaming, here in Prague."

Some of the loudest applause came from young Czechoslovak army officers in uniform. There were some Russian-speaking fans among the 3,000 people crowding the Lucerna auditorium, half a block from Wenceslas Square, but no Soviet uniforms were seen.

HOME FIRE

Mrs. Luther Hodges, 70, wife of the former North Carolina governor, died Friday in North Carolina Memorial Hospital from injuries suffered in a fire at their Chapel Hill home late Thursday night. Death was caused by smoke inhalation and asphyxiation with cardiac and respiratory complications.

Hodges, U.S. Secretary of Commerce from 1961 to 1965, was reported in satisfactory condition with a back injury and broken foot sustained when he jumped from the second floor of the house as it was swept by fire.

ELECTRIC

Hundreds of detectives mingled with excited crowds outside historic Caernarvon Castle in Wales Friday in a busy security operation to guard Britain's future king.

Only four days until Prince Charles is formally sworn in as Prince of Wales in front of a worldwide television audience, the atmosphere in this ancient town was electric.

As many as 200,000 people are expected to throng the streets on Tuesday when Queen Elizabeth II invests her 20-year-old son and presents him to the people of Wales as their own prince. In a ceremony that will cost about $6,360 a minute. That adds up to $480,000 over-all.

TAXATION VOID

A crusader for restoring the ceiling on public school taxes called a news conference Friday in San Francisco but no one showed up to hear his story. "My God, doesn't anybody care any more about taxation without representation?" exclaimed Randolph J. Kennedy of Penryn. Kennedy, a utility worker in Sacramento, is campaigning to place an initiative on the June 1970 primary ballot to repeal the act that repealed the requirement for voter approval of school tax overrides.

Fly Me to the Moon

APOLLO 11 ASTRONAUT Edwin Aldrin Jr. accidentally ran into TV actress Barbara Eden Friday in Cocoa Beach, Fla., and she gave him a good luck kiss on the cheek for his moon landing trip slated next month. The astronaut responded with a firm kiss of the lips. Miss Eden stars on the "I Dream of Jeannie" show in which she loves an astronaut.

SINGER MAULED

French singer Jacqueline Dulac was slashed in the scalp, face, mouth and arms Friday by a lion with which she was posing in a cage for a record album cover photo. Some of the singer's teeth were torn out by the enraged animal.

The lion seized Miss Dulac by a leg and leaped at her head, holding her between his paws for nearly two minutes until trainer Pierre Thomas could free her. The album cover was to be for a record Miss Dulac planned to bring out in the fall, titled "The Lion". The song tells of a lion tamer eaten by one of his beasts.

Thomas said in Lorient, France, the singer's life was probably saved because she offered no resistance to the lion and did not attempt to get away immediately.

CLEAVER BAIL

The $50,000 bail posted for Black Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver before he disappeared last fall was ordered forfeited Friday despite an attorney's claim that "Cleaver is forcibly detained in Cuba."

The order by Superior Court Judge Leonard Dieden left the six friends who posted bail with no choice but to pay within 10 days. They said over half the sum already has been received in a public campaign to raise the $50,000.

Palo Alto attorney Harry Bremond delivered an impassioned plea, without supporting evidence, that Cleaver would have appeared in court Friday but for the fact that he was detained in Cuba.

Judge Dieden told Bremond, "your assertions are based entirely on hearsay and this court won't buy it."

Indian Is Charged in United Hijack

United Press International

A graduate in African studies, who had been working as a cab driver, was charged Friday with hijacking at gunpoint a United Air Lines jetliner with 58 persons aboard and taking it to Cuba.

A federal complaint, accused John G. Marques, 31, whom police records identified as an American Indian, of diverting United flight 14 to Havana Wednesday, 11 minutes after takeoff from Los Angeles International Airport on a nonstop flight to New York.

The plane was 15 miles west of Riverside when it was hijacked by a young, well-dressed gunman.

Marques, of West Los Angeles, had worked as a driver for Yellow Cab Co. since May 1. He last reported for work Sunday. He had done graduate work in African studies at UCLA, was divorced and has one child, according to employment records.

Prior to the cab job, he worked as a garage attendant at the Beverly Hilton and the Century Plaza hotels.

An acquaintance of

Marques, John Felz, 23, Hermosa Beach, described him as "a hippie but he cut off his beard to work for the cab company."

"He was very nice, but very emotional about politics," Felz added. "He followed revolutionary ideas. He wanted changes in this country."

"I don't understand why he did it, except that maybe Eldridge Cleaver being in Cuba had something to do with it."

U.S. Atty. Matthew Byrne said a complaint was issued charging Marques with aircraft piracy in the armed hijacking. The offense carries a maximum penalty of death.

The plane landed in Havana Wednesday night but the craft and its passengers were detained until Thursday while Cuban officials searched in vain for a bag which the hijacker had checked.

The bag, inadvertently put on a later flight, went directly to New York, and it was understood that an old passport of the hijacker was discovered by the FBI in the bag.

Weekend Promises Sun, Rolling Surf

Extreme low and high tides, roller-coaster breakers and skin-splashing surf this last weekend of June are expected to lure the year's largest turnout at Southland beaches.

Seaside temperatures in Long Beach should be in the 70s, and from 62 to 65 degrees in the surf.

Mountain resorts will have cloud-free, warm weekend weather, and the sun will beam throughout Southern California deserts, although strong winds will bring blowing sand and dust in the afternoons.

Heavy surf was reported Friday along Southland beaches open to the sea, with large breakers rolling in from the south-southwest.

WEEKEND tidal ranges of nine feet are predicted by the U.S. Coast & Geodetic Service—with evening highs over seven feet today, Sunday and Monday.

Unless an unexpected storm whips in, the 1968-69 fiscal Weather Year, ending Monday midnight, will have failed to set any precipitation records in this area.

Since last July 1, downtown Long Beach has absorbed a respectable, but subrecord, total of 23.98 inches of rain, with traces of hail and sleet. This is about 11 inches over the 13-inch annual average. All-time wet-weather year was 1940-41—28.98 inches.

Union Chief Named L.A. Harbor Boss

Dr. Robert J. Fenton, president of the Los Angeles Harbor Commission, Friday announced his retirement from the agency, and as one of his last official acts announced a 5.5-per cent pay raise for the department's employees.

Mayor Sam Yorty appointed John J. Royal, 47, of 1044 Oliver St., San Pedro, to complete Dr. Craig's unexpired term, which ends July 1, 1972.

Royal, whose appointment requires City Council confirmation, for the past 12 years has been executive secretary-treasurer of the Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union, Local 33, of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.

Dr. Craig, who said he is resigning for "personal reasons," was appointed to the commission in March 1968 and elected its president in mid-March of this year.

He and all other members of Los Angeles city commissions have been asked by Mayor Yorty to submit their resignations. Not all the resignations will be accepted, the mayor's aides reported.

The pay boost, described by a spokesman as a cost of living raise for the 460 employees will be effective July 1, Dr. Craig said.

Funds for the department's salaries, operating and expansion costs come from the agency's earnings without use of tax money, he said.

WOUNDED SUSPECT HELPED BY MEDICS

Hold-Up Suspect Shot by Deputy

A Long Beach man suspected of an abortive Cudahy market stick-up was in fair condition at Harbor General Hospital Friday after he was shot by a sheriff's deputy at the end of a high-speed chase down the Long Beach Freeway.

John Joseph Mateljan, 26, of 3042 Shadypark Drive, was wounded in the shoulders and buttocks by a blast from Deputy Lou Wallace's shotgun as he fled on foot after his car skidded into a field near Del Amo Boulevard.

DEPUTIES said Mateljan and his companion, Stephen Earl Cook, of 1701 W. 27th St., San Pedro, were booked on suspicion of robbery.

Investigators said Deputy Lance Galletch responded to a call to check out two suspicious-looking men in a car at the rear of Food Giant Market, 7928 Atlantic Ave., shortly before noon.

As Galletch questioned the pair, one of them brandished a .22-caliber pistol and disarmed him, forcing him to lie on the ground, investigators said. When the suspects sped off in their small, foreign car, the deputy jumped in. Wallace joined the chase, his auto and gave chase. 12 patrol cars were BY THE TIME Deputy pursuing the suspects.

Senate Committee OKs ABM; Floor Fight Set

New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — The Senate Armed Services Committee, by a 10-7 vote, Friday approved deployment of the administration's Safeguard missile defense system.

The committee action set the stage for what is expected to be a protracted floor fight next month, with the outcome still uncertain in the closely divided Senate.

Committee approval had been expected for the administration's request for $993.5 million to start construction of the first two stations in an antiballistic missile system that ultimately will have 12 stations and cost nearly $11 billion, according to present Pentagon estimates.

What was unusual, however, was the sharp division within a committee that normally takes its proposals to the Senate floor with a united front.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., observed that it was the first time in his 17 years on the committee when there had been such a division and when a minority report would be filed by the committee.

LEADERS in the opposition to the ABM system believed their case had been strengthened by the division within the committee, for in the forthcoming debate the opposition will find support from some of the senior members of the committee. Thus, Sen. John C. Stennis of Mississippi, the committee chairman, will find himself in the unusual role of defending the committee's action against some of the senior members on the committee, such as Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, the ranking Republican, and Symington, the third ranking Democrat.

Also regarded as significant by the opposition was the fact that Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., voted against the administration request. Until the vote, Cannon had been placed by the opposition among the uncommitted on the ABM issue.

At this point, the opposition believes it has 49 "hard" votes against the Safeguard deployment, with 46 senators supporting the administration and five senators uncommitted. With Cannon switching from the ranks of the uncommitted, the opposition believes it now commands 50 votes, or just one shy of a clear majority.

On the basis of Friday's committee action, the opposition may also pick up the vote of Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., who has been regarded as a key senator on the issue. McIntyre, who abstained from Friday's vote, reportedly announced at the closed-door session of the committee that he would vote against the administration request if a compromise that he has proposed is rejected.

McINTYRE'S compromise proposed that the administration be given permission to proceed with the installation of radars and computers at the first two sites in Montana and North Dakota but that authority be withheld for deployment of the missiles. His objective has been to have the Senate go on record as being against immediate deployment while still permitting the Army to proceed with field testing of the electronic components in the system.

The administration now believes that it has 51 or 52 Senators favoring Safeguard deployment, with 46 senators opposed and two or three uncommitted. In line with this count, Sen. John G. Tower, R-Texas, predicted that the pro-ABM forces would win by a three or four-vote majority.

accident conditions for hundreds of years.

"After this period, the nuclear fuel will have decayed to an insignificant quantity," the commission said.

A spokesman pointed out that last year plutonium powered, SNAP-type generators sent into the Pacific off Santa Barbara when a Nimbus space mission went awry. They showed no radiation leakage when they were recovered five months later.

WASH. (AP) —

The Republican National Committee adopted a new, strictly-modern looking elephant for its symbol Friday, replacing the true-to-life looking elephant on its old seal.

The elephant has a narrow white bar running from front to back bisecting the elephant which has a rounded top half of blue and squared bottom half which is red.

In the top section are three five-pointed white stars.

It has a trunk but no tail or eyes.

A committee official said the move was just to modernize and stylize the GOP symbol and "symbolizes the strength of the party."

Car Stereo Stolen

Henry Walcott, of Dublin, Calif., told Long Beach police Friday that his car, parked in the 6800 block of Obispo Avenue, was looted of a stereo tape deck and tapes valued at $160.

Mrs. Alexander Aarons 49, who was found slain April 29. She had been hit on the head with a blunt instrument. Police still have no suspects in the killing.

Deputy David Gardella, talked to "Marian Lane" at the home of Dr. John Blemmer, in Danville, a rural community about 35 miles east of San Francisco. The Blemmers are in Europe.

She told him her nephew had been using her car, but Gardella undertook an investigation which disclosed her true identity.

Winnie Ruth was a pretty blonde secretary when her name was emblazoned across the nation's front pages as the "tiger woman."

The daughter of a Methodist minister, she was accused of shooting her two friends on Oct. 17, 1931, in their Phoenix apartment and shipping their dismembered bodies to Los Angeles in a trunk.

There never has been a complete explanation of the motive for the murders, but the prosecution at her trial said she killed her friends in a jealous rage over a man.

A RAILROAD agent saw blood seeping from the trunk when it arrived in Los Angeles. Police asked Mrs. Judd to open it when she arrived to claim the luggage on Oct. 20. She excused herself to get her keys and did not return.

The trunk was opened and the bodies of Agnes

FRIDAY, in Washington, Robert Finch, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, announced that he had been unsuccessful in his attempts to get Knowles appointed as health and scientific affairs.

Knowles, who is general director of Massachusetts General Hospital, held a news conference here Friday afternoon.

He spoke warmly and admiringly of Finch, calling him one of the great leaders of the country. He expressed no bitterness over the five months of waiting and the behind-the-scenes maneuvering that led to the decision Friday, and said that it had been entirely fair.

Of President Nixon's role, he said, "If he has had to meet certain promises or debts made during his campaign, I think that he should."

KNOWLES described the board of trustees of the American Medical Association as fearful of any middle political positions. After the news conference he said that he thinks they would have opposed any man really qualified to take the important health post, but he doubts that the opposition will continue now that his own candidacy has been blocked.

Later Friday he said the power exercised by AMPAC should be investigated to be certain it is working in the public interest. He made no suggestion on the matter of who or what group should do the investigating.

Members of the AMA make up about 210,000 of the 367,000 physicians in the country, but Dr. Knowles said it is clear that the association was not reflecting the view of all its members when they opposed his appointment. He has received many letters from doctors and medical organizations supporting him, he said.

FURTHERMORE, he said, he is a member of the AMA and is proud to be so, but no one has polled him on the appointment. Sen. Edward M.

Kennedy, D-Mass., charged that "men in high places in public life and organized medicine have conspired to prevent the nomination" of Knowles, and he said that "the hostile voices raised against his nomination do not represent the vast bulk of the nation's doctors."

SEN. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., said the issue was whether the choice should be made "on the basis of merit or politics" and "politics won." The AMA and Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, the minority leader, had succeeded in exercising a veto on the President, Goodell said, and now the Administration would have to pay the price.

Informed sources on Capitol Hill said that Finch told some members of Congress Friday that Dirksen had been reluctantly converted to the idea that the President should be allowed to name his own chief advisers and that the final rejection of Knowles was due to pressure from Sen. John G. Tower of Texas and Rep. Bob Wilson of California, both conservative Republicans.

Knowles Urges Probe of U.S. Medical Unit

New York Times Service

BOSTON — Dr. John H. Knowles said Friday he would like to see an investigation of the American Medical Political Action Committee to determine if they have acted ethically in their long effort to block his nomination to the nation's top health post.

he will come from all the world and not just the American part of the world," Nixon said.

TRUDELLA, a suave speaker obviously at home on the platform, told Nixon it was a great pleasure to welcome him and his family and that it was appropriate that his first visit — as President — should be in the Place des Nations. He recalled that the place was an open forum during Expo 67, a meeting place for the peoples of many lands "in a brotherhood of understanding."

Nixon later flew to New York and transferred by helicopter to the Wall Street heliport in Manhattan. He then went by car to visit his Fifth Avenue dentist, Dr. W. Campbell Hudson, before going to Bedford, N.Y., to spend the night in suburban Westchester County at the home of a friend, Hobart Lewis, chairman of the board of Readers Digest magazine.

Authorities gave up hope of recapturing her, and one year after the last escape Dr. Samuel Wick of the state hospital said "no one is out looking" for the fugitive.

Contra Costa County authorities said they were not certain of how long Mrs. Judd has been in the area. She told them she had started the job at Danville this week, but deputies have other information indicating she has been in the area several weeks at least.

The place where she was working was about four miles from the scene of the killing of Mrs. Aarons.

When taken into custody Mrs. Judd was wearing a semi-casual blue dress. She had a brown and a black poodle on leashes. Her now reddish brown hair was windblown.

In welcoming dignitaries to joint United States-Canadian ceremonies marking the 10th anniversary of the St. Lawrence Seaway, Rockefeller included "Prime Minister and Mrs. Trudeau."

Evidently hearing scattered titters in the crowd from those who knew that 49-year-old Pierre Elliott Trudeau of Canada is a bachelor, the governor paused and looked over his shoulder at Trudeau with a sheepishly inquiring expression.

Trudeau made a genial gesture toward the crowd. A few minutes later President Nixon interpreted the gesture.

Embellishing his remarks about the cordial relations between the two countries, Nixon added that Rockefeller "may have been prophetic when he presented Mrs. Trudeau. She might be out there on the American side."

Troubled Yacht Limp Toward Santa Barbara

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — A 40-foot sailboat put out an early morning SOS call, Friday saying it was taking on water, then limped toward Santa Barbara Harbor. The trip lasted past sundown.

A Coast Guard cutter, the Cape Hatteras, accompanied the Valkyrie II. The harbor master's office said the sailboat, could travel 5-10 knots.

Those aboard appeared unharmed, the Coast Guard reported.

The vessel was reported en route from the San Francisco area to enter the July 4th Transpacific Yacht Race from San Pedro to Hawaii when its skipper, Reed Christensen, 38, of Sacramento, sent out an SOS.

Indian Is Charged in United Hijack

United Press International

A graduate in African studies, who had been working as a cab driver, was charged Friday with hijacking at gunpoint a United Air Lines jetliner with 58 persons aboard and taking it to Cuba.

A federal complaint accused John G. Marques, 31, whom police records identified as an American Indian, of diverting United flight 14 to Havana Wednesday, 11 minutes after takeoff from Los Angeles International Airport on a nonstop flight to New York.

The plane was 15 miles west of Riverside when it was hijacked by a young, well-dressed gunman.

Marques, of West Los Angeles, had worked as a driver for Yellow Cab Co. since May 1. He last reported for work Sunday. He had done graduate work in African studies at UCLA, was divorced and has one child, according to employment records.

Prior to the cab job, he worked as a garage attendant at the Beverly Hilton and the Century Plaza hotels.

An acquaintance of

Marques, John Felz, 23, Hermosa Beach, described him as "a hippie but he cut off his beard to work for the cab company."

"He was very nice, but very emotional about politics," Felz added. "He followed revolutionary ideas. He wanted changes in this country."

"I don't understand why he did it, except that maybe Eldridge Cleaver being in Cuba had something to do with it."

U.S. Atty. Matthew Byrne said a complaint was issued charging Marques with aircraft piracy in the armed hijacking. The offense carries a maximum penalty of death.

The plane landed in Havana Wednesday night but the craft and its passengers were detained until Thursday while Cuban officials searched in vain for a bag which the hijacker had checked.

The bag, inadvertently put on a later flight, went directly to New York, and it was understood that an old passport of the hijacker was discovered by the FBI in the bag.

Weekend Promises Sun, Rolling Surf

Extreme low and high tides, roller-coaster breakers and skin-splashing surf this last weekend of June are expected to lure the year's largest turnout at Southland beaches.

Seaside temperatures in Long Beach should be in the 70s, and from 62 to 65 degrees in the surf.

Mountain resorts will have cloud-free, warm weekend weather and the sun will beam throughout Southern California deserts, although strong winds will bring blowing sand and dust in the afternoons.

Heavy surf was reported Friday along Southland beaches open to the sea, with large breakers rolling in from the south-southwest.

WEEKEND tidal ranges of nine feet are predicted by the U.S. Coast & Geodetic Service—with evening highs over seven feet today, Sunday and Monday.

Unless an unexpected storm whips in, the 1968-69 fiscal Weather Year, ending Monday midnight, will have failed to set any precipitation records in this area.

Since last July 1, downtown Long Beach has absorbed a respectable, but subrecord, total of 23.98 inches of rain, with traces of hail and sleet. This is about 11 inches over the 13-inch annual average. All-time wet-weather year was 1940-41—28.98 inches.

Union Chief Named L.A. Harbor Boss

Dr. Robert Feraon Craig, president of the Los Angeles Harbor Commission, Friday announced his retirement from the agency, and as one of his last official acts announced a 5.5 per cent pay raise for the department's employees.

Mayor Sam Yorty appointed John J. Royal, 47, of 1044 Oliver St., San Pedro, to complete Dr. Craig's unexpired term, which ends July 1, 1972.

Royal, whose appointment requires City Council confirmation, for the past 12 years has been executive secretary-treasurer of the Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union, Local 33 of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.

Dr. Craig, who said he is resigning for "personal reasons," was appointed to the commission in March 1968 and elected its president in mid-March of this year.

He and all other members of Los Angeles city commissions have been asked by Mayor Yorty to submit their resignations. Not all the resignations will be accepted, the mayor's aides reported.

The pay boost, described by a spokesman as a cost of living raise for the 460 employees will be effective July 1, Dr. Craig said.

Funds for the department's salaries, operating and expansion costs come from the agency's earnings without use of tax money, he said.

Hold-Up Suspect Shot by Deputy

A Long Beach man suspected of an abortive Cudahy market stick-up was in fair condition at Harbor General Hospital Friday after he was shot by a sheriff's deputy at the end of a high-speed chase down the Long Beach Freeway.

John Joseph Mateljan, 26, of 3042 Shadypark Drive, was wounded in the shoulders and buttocks by a blast from Deputy Lou Wallace's shotgun as he fled on foot after his car skidded into a field near Del Amo Boulevard.

DEPTUES said Mateljan and his companion, Stephen Earl Cook, of 1701 W. 27th St., San Pedro, were booked on suspicion of robbery.

Investigators said Deputy Lance Galletch responded to a call to check out two suspicious-looking men in a car at the rear of Food Giant Market, 7928 Atlantic Ave., shortly before noon.

As Galletch questioned the pair, one of them brandished a .22-caliber pistol and disarmed him, forcing him to lie on the ground, investigators said. When the suspects sped off in their small, foreign car, the deputy jumped in his auto and gave chase. BY THE TIME Deputy Wallace joined the chase, 12 patrol cars were pursuing the suspects.

Senate Committee OKs ABM; Floor Fight Set

New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — The Senate Armed Services Committee, by a 10-7 vote, Friday approved deployment of the administration's Safeguard missile defense system.

The committee action set the stage for what is expected to be a protracted floor fight next month, with the outcome still uncertain in the closely divided Senate.

Committee approval had been expected for the administration's request for $793.5 million to start construction of the first two stations in an antiballistic missile system that ultimately will have 12 stations and cost nearly $11 billion, according to present Pentagon estimates.

What was unusual, however, was the sharp division within a committee that normally takes its proposals to the Senate floor with a united front.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., observed that it was the first time in his 17 years on the committee when there had been such a division and when a minority report would be filed by the committee.

LEADERS in the opposition to the ABM system believed their case had been strengthened by the division within the committee, for in the forthcoming debate the opposition will find support from some of the senior members of the committee. Thus, Sen. John C. Stennis of Mississippi, the committee chairman, will find himself in the unusual role of defending the committee's action against some of the senior members on the committee, such as Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, the ranking Republican, and Symington, the third ranking Democrat.

Also regarded as significant by the opposition was the fact that Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., voted against the administration request. Until the vote, Cannon had been placed by the opposition among the uncommitted on the ABM issue.

At this point, the opposition believes it has 49 "hard" votes against the Safeguard deployment, with 46 senators supporting the administration and five senators uncommitted. With Cannon switching from the ranks of the uncommitted, the opposition believes it now commands 50 votes, or just one shy of a clear majority.

On the basis of Friday's committee action, the opposition may also pick up the vote of Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., who has been regarded as a key senator on the issue. McIntyre, who abstained from Friday's vote, reportedly announced at the closed-door session of the committee that he would vote against the administration request if a compromise that he has proposed is rejected.

McINTYRE'S compromise proposed that the administration be given permission to proceed with the installation of radars and computers at the first two sites in Montana and North Dakota but that authority be withheld for deployment of the missiles. His objective has been to have the Senate go on record as being against immediate deployment while still permitting the Army to proceed with field testing of the electronic components in the system.

The administration now believes that it has 51 or 52 Senators favoring Safeguard deployment, with 46 senators opposed and two or three uncommitted. In line with this nose count, Sen. John G. Tower, R-Texas, predicted that the pro-ABM forces would win by a three or four vote majority.

accident conditions for hundreds of years.

"After this period, the nuclear fuel will have decayed to an insignificant quantity," the commission said.

A spokesman pointed out that last year plutonium powered, SNAP-type generators fell into the Pacific off Santa Barbara when a Nimbus space mission went awry. They showed no radiation leakage when they were recovered five months later.

GOP Elephant Symbol Given Modern Look

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican National Committee adopted a new, strictly-modern looking elephant for its symbol Friday, replacing the true-to-life looking elephant on its old seal.

The elephant has a narrow white bar running from front to back bisecting the elephant which has a rounded top half of blue and squared bottom half which is red.

In the top section are three five-pointed white stars.

It has a trunk but no tail or eyes.

A committee official said the move was just to modernize and stylize the GOP symbol and "symbolizes the strength of the party."

The seal is designed to set the pattern for GOP displays in party affairs.

WINNIE RUTH JUDD BACK IN CUSTODY

Mrs. Alexander Aarons 49, who was found slain April 29. She had been hit on the head with a blunt instrument. Police still have no suspects in the killing.

Deputy David Gardella talked to "Marian Lane" at the home of Dr. John Blumer, in Danville, a rural community about 35 miles east of San Francisco. The Blumers are in Europe.

She told him her nephew had been using her car, but Gardella undertook an investigation which disclosed her true identity.

Winnie Ruth was a pretty blonde secretary when her name was emblazoned across the nation's front pages as the "tiger woman."

The daughter of a Methodist minister, she was accused of shooting her two friends on Oct. 17, 1931, in their Phoenix apartment and shipping their dismembered bodies to Los Angeles in a trunk.

There never has been a complete explanation of the motive for the murders, but the prosecution at her trial said she killed her friends in a jealous rage over a man.

A RAILROAD agent saw blood seeping from the trunk when it arrived in Los Angeles. Police asked Mrs. Judd to open it when she arrived to claim the luggage on Oct. 20. She excused herself to get her keys and did not return.

The trunk was opened and the bodies of Agnes

Anne Le Roi and Hedvig Samuelson were found dismembered.

Mrs. Judd, whose husband had left her, gave herself up a few days later. She was convicted by an all-male jury and sentenced to hang.

Seventy-two hours before she was to go to the gallows a court found her insane and she was committed to the state hospital in 1933.

Between 1939 and 1962 she escaped six times for brief periods. Each time she was soon back in custody until Oct. 8, 1962 when she vanished through a door authorities said was "accidentally left open."

Authorities gave up hope of recapturing her, and one year after the last escape Dr. Samuel Wick of the state hospital said "no one is out looking" for the fugitive.

Contra Costa County authorities said they were not certain of how long Mrs. Judd has been in the area. She told them she had started the job at Danville this week, but deputies have other information indicating she has been in the area several weeks at least.

The place where she was working was about four miles from the scene of the killing of Mrs. Aarons.

When taken into custody Mrs. Judd was wearing a semi-casual blue dress. She had a brown and black poodle on leashes. Her now reddish brown hair was windblown.

Nixon May Welcome Moonmen in Pacific

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House confirmed Friday that President Nixon is considering a trip to the Pacific in July to welcome the crew of Apollo 11 after the splashdown completing their moon landing. An announcement on the trip is expected today.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said there also has been talk of "connected travel" following the Nixon visit with the moon astronauts, but he declined to comment further.

WHEN HE mentioned the possibility of "connected travel," Ziegler discouraged speculation that Nixon might take a trip to South Vietnam to visit troops.

Ziegler also declined to comment on specific questions asking if the President intends to visit leaders of Thailand or the Philippines, allies of the United States in the Vietnam war.

While Apollo 11 underwent a crucial countdown rehearsal Friday for man's first moon landing flight, scientists selected a monkey named "Bonny" for launch tonight on a 30-day Earth orbiting research mission.

Knowles Urges Probe of U.S. Medical Unit

New York Times Service

BOSTON — Dr. John H. Knowles said Friday he would like to see an investigation of the American Medical Political Action Committee to determine if they have acted ethically in their long effort to block his nomination to the nation's top health post.

The committee, known as AMPAC, is the political arm of American Medical Association. The committee and the association's 15-man board of trustees are widely believed to be the prime obstacles that held up the appointment for more than five months and then forced the Administration to abandon it.

FRIDAY, in Washington, Robert Finch, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, announced that he had been unsuccessful in his attempts to get Knowles appointed as health and scientific affairs.

Knowles, who is general director of Massachusetts General Hospital, held a news conference here Friday afternoon.

He spoke warmly and admiringly of Finch, calling him one of the great leaders of the country. He expressed no bitterness over the five months of waiting and the behind the scenes maneuvering that led to the decision Friday, and said that it had been entirely fair.

Of President Nixon's role, he said, "If he has had to meet certain promises or debts made during his campaign, I think that he should."

KNOWLES described the board of trustees of the American Medical Association as fearful of any middle political positions. After the news conference he said that he thinks they would have opposed any man really qualified to take the important health post, but he doubts that the opposition will continue now that his own candidacy has been blocked.

Later Friday he said the power exercised by AMPAC should be investigated to be certain it is working in the public interest. He made no suggestion on the matter of who or what group should do the investigating.

Members of the AMA make up about 210,000 of the 367,000 physicians in the country, but Dr. Knowles said it is clear that the association was not reflecting the view of all its members when they opposed his appointment. He has received many letters from doctors and medical organizations supporting him, he said.

FURTHERMORE, he said, he is a member of the AMA and is proud to be so, but no one has polled him on the appointment. Sen. Edward M.

Kennedy, D-Mass., charged that "men in high places in public life and organized medicine have conspired to prevent the nomination" of Knowles, and he said that "the hostile voices raised against his nomination do not represent the vast bulk of the nation's doctors."

SEN. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., said the issue was whether the choice should be made "on the basis of merit or politics," and "politics won." The AMA and Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, the minority leader, had succeeded in exercising a veto on the President, Goodell said, and now the Administration would have to pay the price.

Informed sources on Capitol Hill said that Finch told some members of Congress Friday that Dirksen had been reluctantly converted to the idea that the President should be allowed to name his own chief advisers and that the final rejection of Knowles was due to pressure from Sen. John G. Tower of Texas and Rep. Bob Wilson of California, both conservative Republicans.

Rocky Goofs --But Nixon Saves Day

NEW YORK TIMES SERVICE

MASSENA, N.Y. — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller pulled a bloopster Friday, but President Nixon, a fellow Republican, came to the rescue.

In welcoming dignitaries to joint United States-Canadian ceremonies marking the 10th anniversary of the St. Lawrence Seaway, Rockefeller included "Prime Minister and Mrs. Trudeau."

Evidently hearing scattered titters in the crowd from those who knew that 49-year-old Pierre Elliott Trudeau of Canada is a bachelor, the governor paused and looked over his shoulder at Trudeau with a sheepishly inquiring expression.

Trudeau made a genial gesture toward the crowd. A few minutes later President Nixon interpreted the gesture.

Embellishing his remarks about the cordial relations between the two countries, Nixon added that Rockefeller "may have been prophetic when he presented Mrs. Trudeau. She might be out there on the American side."

Four Negro Administrators Quit S.F. State

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Four Negro administrators, saying they were used as "niggers in residence," resigned Friday from racially-troubled San Francisco State College.

"I'm glad to see them go," declared Acting President S. I. Hayakawa. "They have been engaged in revolutionary rhetoric and had only been helping revolutionary students. "They gave no help to black moderates or white students."

Hayakawa, who took over last fall in the midst of a violent four-month student strike, described the mass resignation before television cameras as "a grandstand play."

Dr. Joseph White, dean of undergraduate studies, was accompanied by three other Negro administrators as he said, "We refuse to condone racism in education by participating in this administration."

The others were Elmer Cooper, associate dean of activities; Edward Reavis, assistant dean of students; and Reginald Major, head of the college's Economic Opportunity Program.

White, who came to his alma mater, San Francisco State, from California State College at Long Beach, also named Dr. Nathan Hare, who was to head a black studies program. But Hare's contract expires Monday and Hayakawa already had announced he would not be rehired.

Hare, a leader in the strike, was accused by the acting president of sabotaging the school's black studies program by his delay in drawing up plans. White and Major had demanded that Hare be reinstated.

Their resignations leave the college with only one Negro administrator, Ronald Boyd of the financial aid office.

The last straw, White said, was Hayakawa's announcement last week that because of limited funds only 150 students would be added to the Educational Opportunity Program, which started with 400 last year.

Hayakawa said 300 students will return, giving the program 450.

Hayakawa said Friday, "We didn't want to bite off more than we could chew."

"Whatever the stated reasons," said White, "There is one and only one purpose in reducing the EOP: To prevent non-white students from enrolling in the college."

The Black Students Union and Third World Liberation Front had demanded an "autonomous" minority studies program, a full professorship for Hare, and unlimited enrollment of minority students.

Beilenson Asks Probe of Berkeley

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson Friday asked the Senate leadership to appoint a "bipartisan and objective" panel of legislators to study recent disturbances at the University of California at Berkeley.

"There have been numerous allegations of violence on the part of both law enforcement officials and members of the public, not only on and near the Berkeley campus, but also at the jails and detention areas," said Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills.

"I just think people ought to know what's going on," he said. "There's been no objective study and someone should either prove these charges or they should be laid to rest."

BEILENSON'S resolution calling for creation of the investigative committee was referred to the Rules Committee. Senate Leader Howard W. Rorer, said it would be given a hearing before any action is taken.

Gov. Ronald Reagan has announced his staff would conduct its investigation into the "People's Park" disturbances and make a report.

But Beilenson said the governor's probe "will be pleading his side and that's all right," but added that a "bipartisan and objective as possible committee" look into the incidents.

"The Legislature and the public of the State of California should have a clearer understanding of what occurred during this period and also of what methods are available to prevent or control similar incidents in the future," he said.

L.A. Interest Conflict Probed

Associated Press

State officials are investigating the possibility of conflict of interest and bribery of Los Angeles city officials, a suit filed in Superior Court Friday revealed.

In the suit, Deputy State Atty. Gen. Richard Huffman says he is investigating the connection between some city council members and city commissioners and a possible payment of money from three firms concerned with building Beverly Ridge Project, a high-rise development in Los Angeles.

A SPOKESMAN for the attorney's general office said the names of those under investigation could not be disclosed now.

The investigation ordered has been under way since early this year by Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch, the spokesman said.

The Beverly Ridge Project has caused strenuous objections from adjacent Beverly Hills residents, who claim it will increase traffic and cause a dramatic increase in population of the area.

THE THREE firms involved with the building are Beverly Ridge Estates Corp. of Beverly Hills, So-Cal Engineers, Inc., and Interstate Excavation Co. The site is in the second councilmans district, represented by James B. Potter Jr.

In the suit, Huffman asked the court to compel Kenny Pinns, assistant secretary of Beverly Ridge, to appear at investigative hearings with the company's books and records from Jan. 1, 1964 to the present.

PINNS was subpoenaed to appear at the hearing Thursday but did not come, Huffman said.

Superior Court Commissioner Robert C. Nye ordered Pinns to appear July 22 for a hearing.

'Panthers' Hired by Film Crew

OAKLAND (AP) — A top sheriff's officer said Friday a Hollywood film crew hired "Black Panther types" to join the "People's Park" demonstrations in Berkeley last month.

The officer, Thomas L. Houchins, chief of the criminal division, told newsmen the same thing happened March 6 during a student strike at the University of California.

"Apparently the protest wasn't lively enough for them, so they hired the Panther types to join in," Houchins said.

He said his officers had definite proof that eight young Negroes in black berets and black leather jackets had been hired for the March 6 incident.

HE DID NOT say whether the Negroes were actually members of the militant group.

The youths then were noticed in a March a few days after the park riot of May 15 when one man was killed and scores were injured.

"They had not been there before, so we became curious," he said. He said investigation disclosed the youths had been paid by a film crew and that the crew used credit cards issued in the name of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. He said the studio ordered the crew to leave as soon as it learned what was happening.

Educators Call for Ethnic Study Centers Over U.S.

OAKLAND (AP) — A conference of 50 educators from colleges across the nation urged Friday the establishment of large regional ethnic study centers throughout America, financed with federal funds.

"Black, brown and red people — should run and control the institutions, said the recommendation by a week-long conference of college presidents, administrators, and minority group students.

"The campus crisis requires the same massive effort we've given the space program," said the report of the closed conference at Mills College.

Robert Wert, Mills College president, said the group opposed ethnic studies programs "that are piecemeal or weak or put into operation merely to silence or appease groups of students at the individual institutions."

"We want to see concentrations of black, brown or red intellectuals, scholars, scientists and teachers, and not merely a diffusion of talent in ethnic studies," the report said.

The conference was sponsored by the University of California, Stanford University and Mills College.

The group included 16 college presidents.

"Militancy in the interest of building up communities and programs is not to be feared or resisted," the conference report declared.

From Our L.A. Bureau.

A $625,000 increase in medical instruction costs at three county hospitals, including Rancho Los Amigos in Downey, won't affect property taxes.

The increase, according to County Chief Administrative Officer Lindon S. Hollinger, will be offset by Medi-Cal revenue.

The County Counsel's office is preparing an amendment to the present contract, with the new money agreement going into effect July 1 and running for a year.

Under the program, medical teaching is provided through the University of Southern California and, in the process, some patient care is necessarily involved.

The Board of Supervisors voted for the increase.

Navy Still Probes Scorpion Mystery

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Navy still doesn't know what caused the nuclear submarine Scorpion to sink off the Azores 13 months ago with 99 men aboard, Rear Adm. Odale Waters Jr. said Friday.

But "we are re-investigating," he added. A Navy court of inquiry found no explanation after the Nuclear submarine sank 10,000 feet to the ocean floor.

Waters, the Navy's chief oceanographer, was asked after his Commonwealth Club speech if "deep water warfare games" by nuclear craft are having any effect on marine life.

"I haven't even thought about it," he replied. "There's so little life in the deep sea to worry about."

He reported the Russian undersea program puts more emphasis on scientific studies in an effort to expand Soviet fishing enterprises.

In military underwater experiments, however, "I think we are a little ahead of them," he commented.

Hospital Fires 3 Striking Nurses

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Three nursing supervisors at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital have been fired for insubordination because they joined the 18-day-old nurses strike at the facility, the hospital said Friday.

Disclosure of the firings was in response to a charge made earlier in the day by a spokesman for the striking nurses.

TV, Player Gone

Burglars forced open a bedroom window at the home of Wilma Wickley, 1156 E. 17th St., and removed a television set and record player, valued at $598, Long Beach police said Friday.

Four Negro Administrators Quit S.F. State

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Four Negro administrators, saying they were used as "niggers in residence," resigned Friday from racially-troubled San Francisco State College.

"I'm glad to see them go," declared Acting President S. J. Hayakawa. "They have been engaged in revolutionary rhetoric and had only been helping revolutionary students. "They gave no help to black moderates or white students."

Hayakawa, who took over last fall in the midst of a violent four-month student strike, described the mass resignation before television cameras as "a grandstand play."

Dr. Joseph White, dean of undergraduate studies, was accompanied by three other Negro administrators as he said, "We refuse to condone racism in education by participating in this administration."

The others were Elmer Cooper, associate dean of activities; Edward Reavis, assistant dean of students; and Reginald Major, head of the college's Economic Opportunity Program.

White, who came to his alma mater, San Francisco State, from California State College at Long Beach, also named Dr. Nathan Hare, who was to head a black studies program. But Hare's contract expires Monday and Hayakawa already had announced he would not be rehired.

Hare, a leader in the strike, was accused by the acting president of sabotaging the school's black studies program by his delay in drawing up plans. White and Major had demanded that Hare be reinstated.

Their resignations leave the college with only one Negro administrator, Ronald Boyd of the financial aid office.

The last straw, White said, was Hayakawa's announcement last week that because of limited funds only 150 students would be added to the Educational Opportunity Program, which started with 400 last year.

Hayakawa said 300 students will return, giving the program 450.

Hayakawa said Friday, "We didn't want to bite off more than we could chew."

"Whatever the stated reasons," said White, "There is one and only one purpose in reducing the EOP: To prevent non-white students from enrolling in the college."

The Black Students Union and Third World Liberation Front had denounced an "autonomous" minority studies program, a full professorship for Hare, and unlimited enrollment of minority students.

Beilenson Asks Probe of Berkeley

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson Friday asked the Senate leadership to appoint a "bipartisan and objective" panel of legislators to study recent disturbances at the University of California at Berkeley.

"There have been numerous allegations of violence on the part of both law enforcement officials and members of the public, not only on and near the Berkeley campus, but also at the jails and detention areas," said Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills.

"I just think people ought to know what's going on," he said. "There's been no objective study and someone should either prove these charges or they should be laid to rest."

BEILENSON'S resolution calling for creation of the investigative committee was referred to the Rules Committee. Senate Leader Howard W. R. Exeter, said it would be given a hearing before any action is taken.

Gov. Ronald Reagan has announced his staff would conduct its investigation into the "People's Park" disturbances and make a report.

But Beilenson said the governor's probe "will be pleading his side and that's all right," but added that a "bipartisan and objective as possible committee" look into the incidents.

"The Legislature and the public of the State of California should have a clearer understanding of what occurred during this period and also of what methods are available to prevent or control similar incidents in the future," he said.

Hospital Fires 3 Striking Nurses

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Three nursing supervisors at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital have been fired for insubordination because they joined the 18-day-old nurses strike at the facility, the hospital said Friday.

Disclosure of the firings was in response to a charge made earlier in the day by a spokesman for the striking nurses.

Burglars forced open a bathroom window at the home of Wilma Winkley, 1156 E. 17th St., and removed a television set and record player valued at $398, Long Beach police said Friday.

L.A. Interest Conflict Probed

Associated Press

State officials are investigating the possibility of conflict of interest and bribery of Los Angeles city officials, a suit filed in Superior Court Friday revealed.

In the suit, Deputy State Atty. Gen. Richard Huffman says he is investigating the connection between some city council members and city commissioners and a possible payment of money from three firms concerned with building Beverly Ridge Project, a high-rise development in Los Angeles.

A SPOKESMAN for the attorney's general office said the names of those under investigation could not be disclosed now.

The investigation ordered has been under way since early this year by Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch, the spokesman said.

The Beverly Ridge Project has caused strenuous objections from adjacent Beverly Hills residents, who claim it will increase traffic and cause a dramatic increase in population of the area.

THE THREE firms involved with the building are Beverly Ridge Estates Corp. of Beverly Hills, So-Cal Engineers, Inc., and Interstate Excavation Co. The site is in the second councilman's district, represented by James B. Potter Jr.

in the suit, Huffman asked the court to compel Kenny Pinns, assistant secretary of Beverly Ridge, to appear at investigative hearings with the company's books and records from Jan. 1, 1964 to the present.

PINNS was subpoenaed to appear at the hearing Thursday but did not come, Huffman said.

Superior Court Commissioner Robert C. Nye ordered Pinns to appear July 22 for a hearing.

The parade will form up between the breakwater and Pierpoint Landing and pass close to the landing at 11:45 a.m. It will then cruise to the southwest tip of Terminal Island, turn under the Vincent Thomas Bridge and end at the Ports O'Call Restaurant at 2:15 p.m.

The U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, celebrating its 30th anniversary, will participate in the parade. The La Brea Wood Ambassador Drum and Bugle Band will perform on the deck of the Coast Guard cutter Venturous during the parade.

Safe-Boating Week was proclaimed by President Nixon with the theme — "Safety First — The Golden Rule of Boating."

The week is held annually to impress the 42 million boaters in the United States of the need to make boating a safe sport.

Coast Guard Auxiliary to Inspect Boats

Members of the Coast Guard Auxiliary will be stationed at the Second Street landing in Long Beach Marina today and Sunday to give free courtesy boat inspections for sail and powerboat operators.

The inspections will be made between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Boats which qualify will be permitted to display the auxiliary's certificate.

Skippers of craft which fail to meet federal regulations will be advised of the vessel's shortcomings but no citations will be issued, an auxiliary spokesman said.

NOW you can wipe out insects as you fertilize your lawn

All you do is spread Scotts COPE PLUS on your lawn. It clears out 19 different kinds of lawn insects at the same time it full-fertilizes your grass or dichondra to greener beauty. Get rid of even the toughest like cutworms, lawn moth larvae and vegetable weevils.

Results are amazing — as insects disappear your fertilized grass or dichondra grows greener, thicker, sturdier. So if you'd like to make insects stop where your lawn begins, spread a bag of dual-action COPE PLUS. This weekend would be fine.

Hate crabgrass? You'll love CLOUT!

Just spread CLOUT on your lawn (grass or dichondra) and it's good-bye crabgrass. The ugly stuff starts to curl up and disappear within days. One or two follow-up applications at weekly intervals will polish it off completely.

Yet CLOUT is kind to good grass and dichondra — lets it grow merrily on to fill in where the crabgrass was. Result? A thicker, handsomer lawn — without ugly crabgrass.

GARDENING

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

A few Sea Daffodils of the Amaryllis family, planted in a sunny garden eventually develop a colony of bulbs. When they begin to bloom in late July or early August they provide a huge bouquet of delightfully fragrant large white blossoms in umbels on flower stalks. The flowers don't all bloom at the same time, consequently, the blooming season is prolonged.

The evergreen-foilage clump consisting of strap-shaped, half-inch-wide, twisted, blue green leaves lends a pleasing effect among other perennials and in annual flower beds, throughout the year.

THESE BULBS are not rare in any sense of the word. Unfortunately, many home gardeners who don't know about these plants naturally don't buy them. Nurserymen rarely handle them in dry-bulb form. Some nurserymen, who specialize in bulbs that bloom several seasons of the year, dig them out of the ground at the time they make the sale. Pancratiums rarely are found growing in containers although they could. (We've had to keep a watchful eye for mealy bugs that like our Sea Daffodils.)

You can be sure your local nurseryman sells many kinds of flowering perennials to furnish lots of color in sunny gardens.

CAN'T SEE TO WALK—SHE'LL DRIVE

Tallahassee, Fla. (AP)—An elderly central Florida woman says she's got to have a driver's license because the sidewalks where she lives are too dangerous for a person with her poor eyesight.

Lt. Don Keirn of the Florida Public Safety Department said he received a letter from the woman after she and a local traffic court failed to see eye-to-eye.

In appealing for retention of her license the woman wrote: "Though I love to walk, the sidewalks in this little town are very dangerous and especially for a person with poor eyesight. My eyesight is my worst infirmity."

SEA DAFFODILS of Amaryllis Family

As an example, there are colorful, showy, improved flowers of Gerbera (Transvaal) daisies that bloom off and on almost the year round. Some gardeners have tried to grow them several times, unsuccessfully. The plant would bloom for a time, then stop and gardeners would wonder if and when they would ever flower again.

Gerberas must not be planted edging a lawn or ground-cover planting, because the location keeps them moist and they don't thrive in such a condition. They can use all the sunshine and heat they can get. Grow them along a walk, a driveway, edging a flower bed, in clumps in annual or perennial (sunny) flower beds, or in a bed by themselves in the back yard where you can grow them strictly for cutting-flower use.

WATER SUCH plants deeply as they thirst, then add no more water until they need it again. Feed them lightly once a month with a balanced plant food. Crowns of the plants, the knobby top area from where all the leaves and flower stalks grow, should be a bit above the ground level. Bare-root plants roots should be spread over a mound of soil in the hole rather than being pushed straight down the middle of a narrow hole.

Vinca rosea (Madagascar periwinkle) is another desirable perennial for sunny or half-shade garden location. The dwarf form presents a petite plant of about eight inch, whereas the larger grower fills nearly 20 inches. Both sizes are available in rich pink color, or white, and have carmine eye centers. They continue blooming well into the fall season.

Lets not forget the need for added "color-kick" in the garden by planting some summer-flowering annuals. This time, try for attractive color combinations and contrasts. For example, plant zinnias with the blue of petunias in the front of them. The hot Spanish-mama colors of zinnias complement the cool leavening shades of petunias' blue tones.

HELP YOUR Royal bird of paradise grow better and bloom later by trimming it. Mulch it, then feed it a little later.

Here's how you should do it to plants that are five years or older. First trim out as much as 50 per cent of the older leafage. You must carefully cut off the leaves. If you cut them off at base of the plant, you might be cutting off embryo leaves which are within the hollow leaf stalk area near the plant base. You must cut just above the slight swelling or nubbin which is on the upper side of the leaf stalk. In this way you cut off the leaf stalk just above the beginning of the hollow area.

Cut off the oldest foliage first, next oldest, till finally only about half of the leafage remains. This operation improves plant growth. Next, remove any remainder of last year's mulch. Soak soil well. Scatter bone meal around the plants. Lightly work into the top soil area, then put two-to-three inch thickness of manure or some organic mulch material and slowly soak well. Repeat thorough watering a day or two later. Thereafter water as you normally do. (Don't put more than a quarter-inch layer of manure around container plants!) Month or so later, feed them a complete plant food. Be sure to read the feeding instructions on the fertilizer sack label. You'll discover that a same size container plant, if grown in the ground, would be fed twice the amount.

GARDEN CLINIC

Address all questions to Garden Editor, Independent Press-Telegram, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach, Calif. 90801. No stamps or self-addressed envelopes, please. Answers are given only in this column.

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

Q. I don't know much about gardening but like to putter around in nature, and love to see plants growing, but I do my best. My 15 years old linden tree is beautiful right now, with green leaves. But it never blooms as they do in Ohio state in May. It is in front of my house on north side, between the house and sidewalk facing the street. Is this due to lack of a mate? Or just different climate? Why are there no blossoms on it? By the way, I have not seen any Linden trees in S. California, yet.

A. We haven't seen any linden tree. It is not sold at several nurseries we checked, nor listed in one of the largest wholesale nursery catalog. We checked with Willard Hagen one of the foremost tree authorities. He suggests you should be patient with it, but water it deeply periodically, and apply phosphoric acid fertilizer. It is available as bone meal, an organic, or superphosphate, a mineral form.

Q. Enclosed is a tip from a star pine. Our Neighbors have two, both have these brown tips. What causes it? Also enclosed is a small fly we find on the dead spots, the fly is dead too. Is there any connection?

A. We doubt it very much, because no borer damage is evident. More likely an erratic watering condition, such as frequent light watering, causes this condition. Water deeper and less often.

Q. You ran an article on Limonium perezii, "sea lavender". Nurseries have never heard of it. The picture with the article resembled Statice. Are they the same?

A. Yes!

Q. Can you run a feature article on care of cymbidiums? I want to buy several to keep in redwood planters but am reluctant to do so till I know the basics concerning them, and their care.

A. Can do.

Q. Who would offer an unbiased opinion on putting in a do-it-yourself sprinkler system, also low-voltage garden lighting?

A. I'd go to my favorite hardware store, seek out the manager, have him explain one of several brands of the materials. Purchase the one he recommends, but have him go over the installation in detail.

Q. Our youngest child loves a tangerine, first thought was to put a dwarf Algerian tangerine.

Mow Dichondra Lawns . . . Often

How often should a dichondra lawn be mowed? The answer depends a great deal on you and the kind of dichondra lawn you want to have.

Dichondra often has been billed as the lawn that virtually never needs to be mowed. And it's true that you can get by with only a few mowings a year. But for a truly good looking dichondra lawn, plan to mow at least once every two weeks. Weekly mowing is even better, if you're energetic enough.

Regular mowings not only dress up the overall good looks of dichondra, but also are an effective way to weaken weeds, eventually causing them to die.

In a tub, but we learned a tub plant doesn't produce as much as one in the ground. We could remove a tree and plant tangerine in its place?

A. For the special variety you seek, write Armstrong Nurseries Inc., Ontario, California, C/O Jack Story. Tell him of that particular variety, and he'll surely recognize the one you mean and will gladly advise you whether it still is available.

Southland Combo Schedules Benefit

By GEORGE LAING
Staff Writer

One of the Southland's newest rock combos will provide free music at a benefit concert-dance for Silverman's Palace of Creative Activity beginning at 8 p.m., today.

"Space," a quartet already indelibly etched in the consciousness of rock fans in this area, will perform at the Palace 3025 Corto Place, in order to raise funds for the creative activities there.

The foursome includes Rick Gies, bass; Terry Rae, drums, and John Anderson and Sterling Storm, guitars. They've played such diverse locations as the Marina Palace in Seal Beach, the Flying Gib in Hermosa Beach, the Experience in Hollywood, Venice's now-defunct Cheetah and other places.

"We've got our own thing," Gies explained, "but we don't always do it. It depends on the crowd. Sometimes the kids just want dance music. We give it to them."

That isn't compromise, however. "You just have to get good enough so you can play in a number of different forms," Gies said.

FINIAN'S RAINBOW, replete with Irish gold to wish on and a lovely nymph, Barbara Hancock, who speaks with more eloquence in dance than most others do in language, is currently showing at Southland theaters. Fred Astaire follows a rainbow of dance, imagination and music to answer Miss Hancock's mute questions. The Warner Bros.-Seven Arts musical, directed by Ford Coppola and produced by Joseph Landon, also stars Petula Clark and Tommy Steele. It was written by E. Y. Harburg, Fred Saily and Burton Lane.

Sondra Locke: Oscar Nomination for 'Lonely Hunter' Was No Fluke

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—

"It wasn't a fluke that I was nominated for an Oscar in my first movie, a person who couldn't act wouldn't have been able to play that part."

The words belong to Sondra Locke, the fragile blonde who lost out for best supporting actress of the year to Ruth Gordon.

It is difficult to say whether Sondra's brave statement was made to convince herself or me.

SHE WON her nomination for playing a 14-year old in "The Heart Is a Lonely Hunter," for which Alan Arkin was nominated as best actor. The film was Sondra's first professional job as an actress.

A native of Shelbyville, Tenn., Sondra is 21 years old and appearing in her second movie, "Run Shadow Run," at 20th Century-Fox.

Thin and with enormous, expressive eyes, Sondra may or may not become a star. She is opinionated and resembles Shirley Knight in appearance and, to a degree, in Clearly, Sondra's future does not lie with sex appeal. She is only a curve or two away from twigginess.

For a newcomer, the girl from Tennessee has fixed ideas, most of which are not attuned to Hollywood's traditions and manner of movie making. She speaks out with the clear, bold voice of youth having its day.

It is difficult to say whether Sondra's brave statement was made to convince herself or me.

"I IDENTIFY with the European style of film-making as compared to America," she said at lunch during a break at the studio. What does she know of European film making?

"I mean I'm pleased with the idea of getting away from using the screen as a background for photographs. Now it's being used to touch people."

"And another good thing is that the box office is changing. People don't go to see a picture just because of the stars in it."

Sondra, unlike the buxom blondes of a decade ago, would be offended if anyone asked her measurements or whether she slept in the nude—all due credit to her. Instead, she is intensely gripped by this business of acting, at which she has had so little experience.

Her self-confidence is overwhelming.

"I DID some summer theater in Washington, D.C., and summer stock in the East," she said. "But when I tried to become a professional actress in New York everyone told me to catch a bus back home."

Somehow she was tested for her role in "The Heart Is a Lonely Hunter" and won the part. She played the role faultlessly.

Even if she is convinced her nomination was not a one-in-a-million fluke, Sondra must now prove it to Hollywood's producers, directors and—most vitally—to the public.

Opera Star Maria Callas Goes Through Fire, Water

By NICK LUDINGTON

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Opera star Maria Callas was put through unexpected hazards of fire and water while making her first film near here, the newspaper Cumhuriyet reported.

Journalists who managed to penetrate the closed movie set at Goreme, about 180 miles east of Ankara, said the singer got an unwelcome shower when some of the Turkish extras lost the meaning of their directions in the translation.

FOR ONE scene, they were told by a translator to go through the motions of spitting at Miss Callas, who plays Medea in "Medea and the Golden Fleece." But they were not to let fly.

Some didn't get the word, however, and when the cameras rolled the angry crowd started spitting and Miss Callas was hit. She fled and the scene was interrupted for a thorough review of the stage directions.

In another incident, the paper reported, her stand-in was burned while making the final scene in which Medea walks along the River Sty banked in flames. Miss Callas volunteered to step into the scene herself.

A gust of wind blew the flames and ignited the edge of her long, filmy dress. Producer Franco Rossellini rushed in and quickly put out the blaze.

It was Miss Callas' introduction to films.

AS MEDEA, she plays the part of the princess-sorceress, priestess of the Golden Fleece who kills her children after being betrayed by her husband, Jason of the Argonauts.

The shooting was set in a spectacular valley of 400 naturally eroded conical rock towers containing hand-carved cave-houses and churches where early Christians hid from Roman persecutors.

SAFE BOATING WEEK
Small Craft Will Parade in Ports

A parade of decorated pleasure craft will cruise through Long Beach and Los Angeles harbors Sunday to open National Safe-Boating Week.

The parade will form up between the breakwater and Pierpoint Landing and pass close to the landing at 11:45 a.m. It will then cruise to the southwest tip of Terminal Island, turn under the Vincent Thomas Bridge and end at the Port O'Call Restaurant at 2:15 p.m.

The U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, celebrating its 30th anniversary, will participate in the parade. The Lakewood Ambassador Drum and Bugle Band will perform on the deck of the Coast Guard cutter Venturous during the parade.

Safe-Boating Week was proclaimed by President Nixon with the theme — "Safety First — The Golden Rule of Boating."

The week is held annually to impress the 42 million boaters in the United States of the need to make boating a safe sport.

A briefing for Sunday's parade is being held at 2 p.m. today at the Coast Guard Base on Terminal Island.

Coast Guard
Auxiliary to Inspect Boats

Members of the Coast Guard Auxiliary will be stationed at the Second Street landing in Long Beach Marina today and Sunday to give free courtesy boat inspections for sail and powerboat operators.

The inspections will be made between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Boats which qualify will be permitted to display the auxiliary's certificate.

Skippers of craft which fail to meet federal regulations will be advised of the vessel's shortcomings but no citations will be issued, an auxiliary spokesman said.

GARDENING

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

A few Sea Daffodils of the Amaryllis family, planted in a sunny garden eventually develop a colony of bulbs. When they begin to bloom in late July or early August they provide a huge bouquet of delightfully fragrant large white blossoms in umbels on flower stalks. The flowers don't all bloom at the same time, consequently, the blooming season is prolonged.

The evergreen-foliage clump consisting of strap-shaped, half-inch-wide, twisted, blue green leaves lends a pleasing effect among other perennials and in annual flower beds, throughout the year.

SEA DAFFODILS of Amaryllis Family

THESE BULBS are not rare in any sense of the word. Unfortunately, many home gardeners who don't know about these plants naturally don't buy them. Nurserymen rarely handle them in dry-bulb form. Some nurserymen, who specialize in bulbs that bloom several seasons of the year, dig them out of the ground at the time they make the sale. Pancreaticus rarely are found growing in containers although they could. (We've had to keep a watchful eye for mealy bugs that like our Sea Daffodils.)

You can be sure your local nurseryman sells many kinds of flowering perennials to furnish lots of color in sunny gardens.

As an example, there are colorful, showy, improved flowers of Gerbera (Transvaal) daisies that bloom off and on almost the year round. Some gardeners have tried to grow them several times, unsuccessfully. The plant would bloom for a time, then stop and gardeners would wonder if and when they would ever flower again.

Gerberas must not be planted edging a lawn or ground-cover planting, because the location keeps them moist and they don't thrive in such a condition. They can use all the sunshine and heat they can get. Grow them along a walk, a driveway, edging a flower bed, in clumps in annual or perennial (sunny) flower beds, or in a bed by themselves in the back yard where you can grow them strictly for cutting-flower use.

annuals. This time, try for attractive color combinations and contrasts. For example, plant zinnias with the blue of petunias in the front of them. The hot Spanish-mama colors of zinnias complement the cool leavening shades of petunias' blue tones.

HELP YOUR Royal bird of paradise grow better and bloom later by trimming it. Mule it, then feed it a little later.

Here's how you should do it to plants that are five years or older. First trim out as much as 50 per cent of the older leafage. You must carefully cut off the leaves. If you cut them off at base of the plant, you might be cutting off embryo leaves which are within the hollow leaf stalk area near the plant base. You must cut just above the slight swelling or nubbin which is on the upper side of the leaf stalk. In this way you cut off the leaf stalk just above the beginning of the hollow area.

Cut off the oldest foliage first, next oldest, till finally only about half of the leafage remains. This operation improves plant growth. Next, remove any remainder of last year's mulch. Soak soil well. Scatter bone meal around the plants. Lightly work into the top soil area, then put two-to-three inch thickness of manure or some organic mulch material and slowly soak well. Repeat thorough watering a day or two later. Thereafter water as you normally do. (Don't put more than a quarter-inch layer of manure around container plants.) Month or so later, feed them a complete plant food. Be sure to read the feeding instructions on the fertilizer sack label. You'll discover that a same size container plant, if grown in the ground, would be fed twice the amount.

WATER SUCH plants deeply as they thirst, then add no more water until they need it again. Feed them lightly once a month with a balanced plant food. Crowns of the plants, the knobby top area from where all the leaves and flower stalks grow, should be a bit above the ground level. Bare-root plants roots should be spread over a mound of soil in the hole rather than being pushed straight down the middle of a narrow hole.

Vinca rosea (Madagascar periwinkle) is another desirable perennial for sunny or half-shade garden location. The dwarf plant presents a petite form of about eight inch, whereas the larger grower fills nearly 20 inches. Both sizes are available in rich pink color, or white, and have carmine eye centers. They continue blooming well into the fall season.

Lets not forget the need for added "color-bright" in the garden by planting some summer-flowering

Q. I don't know much about gardening but like to putter around in nature, and love to see plants growing, but I do my best. My 15 years old linden tree is beautiful right now, with green leaves. But it never blooms as they do in Ohio state in May. It is in front of my house on north side, between the house and sidewalk facing the street. Is this due to lack of a mate? Or just different climate? Why are there no blossoms on it? By the way, I have not seen any Linden trees in S. California, yet.

A. We haven't seen any linden tree. It is not sold at several nurseries we checked, nor listed in one of the largest wholesale nursery catalog. We checked with Willard Hagen one of the foremost tree authorities. He suggests you should be patient with it, but water it deeply periodically, and apply phosphoric acid fertilizer. It is available as bone meal, an organic, or superphosphate, a mineral form.

Q. Enclosed is a tip from a star pine. Our Neighbors have two, both have these brown tips. What causes it? Also enclosed is a small fly we find on the dead portion, the fly is dead too, is there any connection?

A. We doubt it very much, because no borer damage is evident. More likely an erratic watering condition, such as frequent light watering, causes this condition. Water deeper and less often.

Q. You ran an article on Limonium perzizii, "Sea lavender". Nurseries have never heard of it. The picture with the article resembled Statice. Are they the same?

A. Yes!

Q. Can you run a feature article on care of cymbidiums? I want to buy several to keep in redwood planters but am reluctant to do so till I know the basics concerning them, and their care.

A. Can do.

Q. Who would offer an unbiased opinion on putting in a do-it-yourself sprinkler system, also low voltage garden lighting?

A. I'd go to my favorite hardware store, seek out the manager, have him explain one of several brands of the materials. Purchase the one he recommends, but have him go over the installation in detail.

Q. Our youngest child loves a tangerine, first thought was to put a dwarf Algerian tangerine in a tub, but we learned a tub plant doesn't produce as much as one in the ground. We could remove a tree and plant tangerine in its place?

A. For the special variety you seek, write Armstrong Nurseries Inc., Ontario, California, C/O Jack Story. Tell him of that particular variety, and he'll surely recognize the one you mean and will gladly advise you whether it still is available.

Mow Dichondra Lawns . . . Often

How often should a dichondra lawn be mowed? The answer depends on a great deal on you and the kind of dichondra lawn you want to have.

Dichondra often has been billed as the lawn that virtually never needs to be mowed. And it's true that you can get by with only a few mowings a year. But for a truly good looking dichondra lawn, plan to mow at least once every two weeks. Weekly mowing is even better, if you're energetic enough.

Regular mowings not only dress up the overall good looks of dichondra, but also are an effective way to weaken weeds, eventually causing them to die.

Southland Combo Schedules Benefit

By GEORGE LAING
Staff Writer

One of the Southland's newest rock combos will provide free music at a benefit concert-dance for Silverman's Palace of Creative Activity beginning at 8 p.m., today.

"Space," a quartet already indelibly etched in the consciousness of rock fans in this area, will perform at the Palace 3025 Corto Place, in order to raise funds for the creative activities there.

The foursome includes Rick Gies, bass; Terry Roe, drums, and John Anderson and Sterling Storm, guitars. They've played such diverse locations as the Marina Palace in Seal Beach, the Flying Gib in Hermosa Beach, the Experience in Hollywood, Venice's now-defunct Cheela and other places.

"We've got our own thing," Gies explained, "but we don't always do it. It depends on the crowd. Sometimes the kids just want dance music. We give it to them."

"That isn't compromise, however."

"You just have to get good enough so you can play in a number of different forms," Gies said.

FINIAN'S RAINBOW, replete with Irish gold to wish on and a lovely nymph, Barbara Hancock, who speaks with more eloquence in dance than most others do in language, is currently showing at Southland theaters. Fred Astaire follows a rainbow of dance, imagination and music to answer Miss Hancock's mute questions. The Warner Bros.-Seven Arts musical, directed by Ford Coppola and produced by Joseph Landon, also stars Petula Clark and Tommy Steele. It was written by E. Y. Harburg, Fred Saily and Burton Lane.

Sondra Locke: Oscar Nomination for 'Lonely Hunter' Was No Fluke

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—
"It wasn't a fluke that I was nominated for an Oscar in my first movie, a person who couldn't act wouldn't have been able to play that part."

The words belong Sondra Locke, the fragile blonde who lost out for best supporting actress of the year to Ruth Gordon.

It is difficult to say whether Sondra's brave statement was made to convince herself or me.

SHE WON her nomination for playing a 14-year old in "The Heart Is A Lonely Hunter," for which Alan Arkin was nominated as best actor. The film was Sondra's first professional job as an actress.

A native of Shelbyville, Tenn., Sondra is 21 years old and appearing in her second movie, "Run Shallow Run," at 20th Century-Fox.

Thin and with enormous, expressive eyes, Sondra may or may not become a star. She is opinionated and resembles Shirley Knight in appearance and, to a degree, in Clearly, Sondra's future does not lie with sex appeal. She is only a curve or two away from twigginess.

For a newcomer, the girl from Tennessee has fixed ideas, most of which are not attuned to Hollywood's traditions and manner of movie making. She speaks out with the clear, bold voice of youth having its day.

It is difficult to say whether Sondra's brave statement was made to convince herself or me.

What does she know of European film making? "I mean I'm pleased with the idea of getting away from using the screen as a background for photographs. Now it's being used to touch people."

"And another good thing is that the box office is changing. People don't go to see a picture just because of the stars in it."

Sondra, unlike the buxom blondes of a decade ago, would be offended if anyone asked her measurements or whether she slept in the nude—all due credit to her. Instead, she is intensely gripped by this business of acting, at which she has had so little experience.

Her self-confidence is overwhelming.

"I DID some summer theater in Washington, D.C. and summer stock in the East," she said. "But when I tried to become a professional actress in New York everyone told me to catch a bus back home."

Somehow she was tested for her role in "The Heart Is A Lonely Hunter" and won the part. She played the role faultlessly.

Even if she is convinced her nomination was not a one-in-a-million fluke, Sondra must now prove it to Hollywood's producers, directors and—most vitally—to the public.

Opera Star Maria Callas Goes Through Fire, Water

By NICK LUDINGTON

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Opera star Maria Callas was put through unexpected hazards of fire and water while making her first film near here, the newspaper Cumhuriyet reported.

Journalists who managed to penetrate the closed movie set at Gorne, about 180 miles east of Ankara, said the singer got an unwelcome shower when some of the Turkish extras lost the meaning of their directions in the translation.

FOR ONE scene, they were told by a translator to go through the motions of spitting at Miss Callas, who plays Medea in "Medea and the Golden Fleece." But they were not to let fly.

Some didn't get the word, however, and when the cameras rolled the angry crowd started spitting and Miss Callas was hit.

She fled and the scene was interrupted for a thorough review of the stage directions.

In another incident, the paper reported, her stand-in was burned while making the final scene in which Medea walks along the River Sty banked in flames. Miss Callas volunteered to step into the scene herself.

A gust of wind blew the flames and ignited the edge of her long, filmy dress. Producer Franco Rossellini rushed in and quickly put out the blaze.

It was Miss Callas' introduction to films.

AS MEDEA, she plays the part of the princess-sorceress, priestess of the Golden Fleece who kills her children after being betrayed by her husband, Jason of the Argonauts.

The shooting was set in a spectacular valley of 400 naturally eroded conical rock towers containing hand-carved cave-houses and churches where early Christians hid from Roman persecutors.

AMERICAN YOUTH DIFFERENT

No Generation Gap Seen in Red Nations

Associated Press
The idea that young people are much the same the world over was disputed Friday as social scientists from 16 countries gave conflicting views on today's rebellious youth. American society is producing a culturally and psychologically new person, according to Dr. Barbara Myerhoff, a University of Southern California professor.

But her Eastern European counterparts say youthful rebellion is just that, and there is neither a real generation gap nor a new kind of person emerging in the communist countries.

They spoke at a Los Angeles news conference ending a four-day International Conference on Youth Problems sponsored by the USC Youth Studies Center. Twenty-one social scientists participated.

"We see students today more serious and self-conscious about themselves," Dr. Myerhoff said. "They don't remain in limbo between childhood and adulthood, they take adult responsibilities and make decisions."

Hippies represent some of what is very old in American culture — love, honesty, openness," she said. "Today, many confrontations occur because young people no longer respond to the traditional system of rewards and values."

Since the traditional rewards aren't working," she said, "coercion is used instead to maintain values, and confrontations result."

of the conference was that most students everywhere react to their university environment but outside the United States they are only slowly responding to the world outside the university.

Meningitis Perils 8, 1 Stricken

County health officials reported Friday eight teen-aged boys from Hollywood had been exposed to spinal meningitis, but there is no fear of an outbreak.

"These kids are all right," said Dr. Benjamin A. Kogan, director of the County Health Department's bureau of medical services.

He said he was called Thursday night by health officials in Ridgecrest, about 90 miles east of Bakersfield, and was told an 18-year-old youth had been admitted to a hospital there with spinal meningitis.

The youth, Dan Elrod, of Hollywood, had been on a camping trip Monday with the other seven.

Elrod remains at Ridgecrest Community Hospital, where his condition was listed as serious, but the others were brought to County-USC Medical Center in Los Angeles.

They arrived about 3 a.m. Friday and were released at 8 a.m. after receiving what Dr. Kogan termed "preventive medicine."

The other seven were identified as: Andrew Granovsky, 18; Geoffrey Niles, 18; Edward Forsythe, 21; Stephen Burg, 18 and his brother, Mitchell, 16; Don Delson, 16, and Bruce Knoll, 18, all of Hollywood.

County to Consider Making Public Records Available

By BILL MAYER
From Our L.A. Bureau
County Supervisors will be asked Tuesday to amend an ordinance on public record availability so anybody can come in and look at them or have copies made.

The only restriction apparently will be in matters of a confidential nature.

Chief Administrative Officer Lindon S. Hollinger will bring the records question up in connection with some new state laws. He explained the change this way:

"All county records are declared to be open to public inspection except those categories exempted by law. Any agency which withholds a record from public inspection is now obliged to demonstrate that the record in question is exempt by law or that the public interest is best served by non-disclosure.

"And any person may institute proceedings in a competent court to enforce his right to inspect or acquire a copy of a public record."

Making copies, however, would not be free. Some fees are prescribed by law, Hollinger points out. "Or," he reports, "if no fee is so prescribed, the county may charge and collect the reasonable cost of making copies."

Hollinger will ask the board to change the county administrative code and bring it into line with the new law.

What must be covered, County Counsel John Maharg said, is inspection or copying of computer data, including magnetic tapes, discs, drums and punched cards.

Some of these things were undreamed of when the administrative code was originally prepared.

Bradley's Loss More Costly Than Yorty Win

Los Angeles Councilman Thomas Bradley's bid to unseat Sam Yorty for mayor cost the challenger more to lose the May 27 election than it did for the incumbent to win, it was learned Friday.

The campaign financial statement filed by Mark Boyer, Bradley's campaign treasurer, showed that receipts totaled $685,053.16 while expenditures totaled $627,192.27, according to City Clerk Rex E. Layton. Additionally, notes and unpaid invoices amount to $385,971.98, Boyer reported.

Layton disclosed that Yorty's campaign treasurer, John E. Sheffield, reported receipts of $548,574.76 and expenditures of $517,450.

Layton said that the councilman's campaign report listed names, addresses and specific amounts of contributors in 147 pages of text, while Yorty's campaign report was 17 pages long and showed 2,700 names. It did not reveal amounts of contributors, Layton said.

Superior Court Starts Backlog Crash Program

A month-long crash program to reduce the backlog of criminal cases in Los Angeles County Superior Court goes into operation Monday.

Presiding Judge Joseph A. Wapner said 25 judges now handling civil matters only will be assigned criminal cases, doubling the number of jurors available for criminal court matters.

The judges temporarily assigned will work in their present courtrooms in the County Courthouse. The program will not involve operations in suburban branch courts where the criminal logjam is not so serious.

Wapner said that as of June 20 there were 2,527 criminal cases due for trial in the Civic Center felony courts. He said he hoped at least 1,350 of these would be disposed of before the crash program ends Aug. 1.

The pressure on criminal courts, Wapner said, now handling civil matters increase in crime rate and a 1968 law that made possession of certain mind-affecting pills a felony. He estimated the law increased prosecutions 15 per cent. Such cases formerly were handled in municipal courts as misdemeanors.

Bixby Green

aparts

They're about as far from apartments as you can get.

You see one apartment, you've seen them all. Cubicles next to cubicles. Cubicles on top of cubicles. Little rooms. Lots of noise. Bixby Green is apart from the ordinary.

First of all, Bixby Green is for adults only. And for families with young adults 16 years and older. It resembles a European suburb of gracious town houses sheltered by abundant landscaping. In fact, we call it an apartment village after the European models. But that's the last time we use that word "apartment."

You can't very well call a two-story suite an apartment. Not at Bixby Green, anyway. As many as three bedrooms are upstairs. One of them is a large master suite with separate bath and dressing area. Downstairs, a long entry-hallway leads to an expansive living room which, in turn, leads out to your own private garden patio. Your kitchen is all-electric. Your suite is centrally air-conditioned.

Your carpeting is deeply luxurious. Your drapes are floor-to-ceiling. You have your own washer-dryer. And your suite is totally sound-proofed (they could hold a football rally next door, and you'd probably never hear it).

The grounds? Six secluded acres, with pool, putting green, tree-lined walkways... and, of course, a Bixby Green village green. You'll have two parking spaces. Both will probably be in the underground parking area. (At Bixby Green, cars are out of sight. Literally.) And there are the beaches, marinas, golf courses and other fun places of Orange County just moments away.

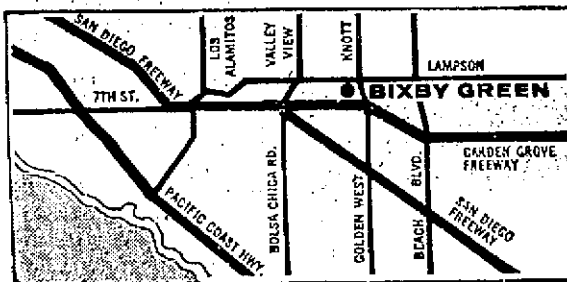

There's everything at—and around—Bixby Green for the times of your life.

You can't get much further from cramped, noisy, routine apartment living than that.

Another L.A. Sweeper Turns Up Elsewhere

IRWINDALE (CNS) — A 13,060-pound, 2-year-old street sweeper stolen in Los Angeles Thursday night was found abandoned Friday in Irwindale by Monrovia police.
The $12,500 sweeper had been driven until the transmission gave out.
The bright yellow machine had been taken sometime around midnight, Los Angeles police said, when the driver, Turner Ray Roberts, parked it to take a short break.
Another sweeper was stolen from the department of public works in 1967. Somehow, it turned up in Aurora, Colo., only last month.

Dr. Libuse Silhanova of the Institute of Marxism-Leninism in Prague, Czechoslovakia, agreed there is a generation gap, "but only a small one."
Since the revitalization of 1968," she said, "all generations join together to build a better and happier socialist society."

Dr. Sergey Lebedev of the Moscow Institute of Foreign Affairs underscored her point, saying, "Each society has its own conditions and the way students act reflect those conditions."

"In the USSR," he said, "manifestations of different opinions are much different than here. In the USSR the educational system changed through discussion."

"Several years ago there was conflict over the university curriculum. Finally it was changed so that students could have practical education along with their theoretical studies," he said.
"We are of the opinion that there is no generation gap in the USSR," Lebedev said.
Students in other countries without the political pressures of the United States and the Soviet Union tend to take a more middle of the road course, professors from those countries said.
However, the consensus

Week's Wall Street Trend

By PHIL THOMAS
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Investor concern over tight money and monetary restraint continued to drag down the stock market the last week, snuffing out a brief technical rally that apparently was sparked by the market's oversold conditions.

The rally began late Monday, blossomed Tuesday, and petered out early Wednesday.

Analysts had been hopeful that because of the oversold condition the market had reached during recent weeks of sharp decline, the rally might be a meaningful, lasting one.

But, as one analyst observed, "the difficulty in getting a rally off the ground despite the overall status attests to investor caution over the economic background." Monetary authorities have insisted that the conversion from rampant inflation to a more normalized price structure will not be accomplished without some 'pain', and investors have gotten a taste of this during 1969."

Eldon Grimm, senior vice president for Walston & Co., Inc., notes that "we still seem to be under the influences that have been weighing on the market for a long time—tight money, a credit crunch and no apparent progress in the Vietnam peace talks."

"While the market's overall condition could give it some support in future sessions, the action probably will be a bit irregular for a while."

Shearson, Hammill & Co., Inc., remarked that "it is hard to develop a conviction that these worst levels mark the bottom of the decline, which now has covered some 50 per cent in the average since mid-May. . . The climate remains about the same, with developments on the monetary front providing most of the worries."

The Federal Reserve took a new step this week to further plug loopholes in the banking system by proposing that banks keep reserves against Eurodollar deposits. The week's mass of money-market futures showed absolutely no easing of the tightness.

After the rally run of a steam Wednesday, the market closed the session with a loss, and performance in the closing two sessions of the week was lackluster, with volume shrinking and no investors reported bullish on the sidelines.

In a late development Friday, the New York American Stock Exchange announced a minute extension in trading hours, effective July 1. The exchanges have operated on a 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. trading schedule since January.

The Dow Jones industrial average and the Associated Press 60-stock average both retreated for sixth straight week.

For the week, the which had been fa steadily from its 1969 of 968.85 reached Ma lost 6.40 points, comp with a loss of 18.68 previous week.

Technical factors continue to favor a general market recovery before any further pressure of significance. The market is still oversold. It is losing downside momentum. There has been a lull in recent news developments. In addition, recent price stability is a favorable sign. It indicates some consolidation at current levels. This should result in at least a small trading base upon which some general market improvement could develop. Thus, on a shorter term basis, the line of least resistance appear to be shifting toward the upside.

SUMMER RALLY DUE — the pronounced market weakness during the last month has greatly increased the prospects of this seasonal tendency to advance. How much of a recovery can be expected will depend on how much of a base is developed to support a rally. Without more consolidation at current prices a move above the 890-900 level could not be projected. Such a move would not be expected to provide more than limited trading opportunities. Therefore, while the market is expected to stage a recovery soon, no significant upturn can be projected yet.

LARGER BLOCK transactions were still distorted by the midyear switching and adjustments of institutional portfolios. Nevertheless, some improvement has been noted in the last few sessions. Among the issues under large scale accumulation recently which are regarded favorably on a technical basis are: SY, WU, ASH, CDA.

Technical factors continue to favor a general mar-

But, as one analyst observed, "the difficulty in getting a rally off the ground despite the over-sold status attests to investor caution over the economic background. Monetary authorities have insisted that the conversion from rampant inflation to a more normalized price structure will not be accomplished without some 'pain', and investors have gotten a taste of this during 1968."

Padres Halt Plunge, Shut Door on Dodgers

By FRED CLAIRE
Staff Writer

SAN DIEGO — It is traditional for coaches of losing football teams to lock the clubhouse doors.

San Diego Padre manager Preston Gomez has made a habit of something very untraditional for baseball teams. Win or lose he locks the Padre clubhouse for 10 to 15 minutes.

Friday night's discussion in the Padre clubhouse was a pleasant one, and it wouldn't have been a surprise to hear champagne corks popping.

The Padres defeated the Dodgers 5-0 behind the six-hit pitching of Joe Niekro.

Niekro became the first

San Diego pitcher to hurl a shutout without assistance from the bullpen and the first Padre to go the distance this month.

Strangely, he became

DODGER OF DAY
TOM HALLER had two of the Dodgers six hits in a 5-0 loss to San Diego.

The second Niekro to beat the Dodgers during the past three nights.

Joe's brother, Phil of the Atlanta Braves, beat the Dodgers 5-3 Wednesday night. The Dodgers have lost only three of their past 11 games and two of the losses have been recorded by the Niekro brothers.

Dodger pitcher Don Sutton (11-6) was attempting to tie Phil Niekro as the top winner in the majors but brother Joe got in the way and recorded his third victory in eight decisions.

The victory snapped San Diego's 11-game losing streak. The Padres hadn't won a game since June 16 when they beat, you guessed it, the Dodgers 3-2.

The man who struck the blow which killed the Dodgers was a guy they call "The Bull." That would be ex-Dodger Al Ferrara, who slugged a three-run homer in the first inning after Walt Hrinak walked and Ollie Brown singled.

The Padres scored two more runs in the third on John Sipin's second home run and Ed Spiezio's double.

The Dodgers remained in first place by a half-game as Atlanta lost to Houston. The only time the Dodgers haven't looked like a first place team recently is when they have been up against teams on prolonged losing streaks.

Montreal was burdened with a 20-game losing streak the longest in the majors since 1961 when the Expos got winning exposure by beating the Dodgers. And then Philadelphia snapped out of a nine-game spin by beating the Dodgers.

"You can say what you want, but it's no fun playing a team with a long losing streak," said Dodger manager Walt Alton. "Those teams are dangerous."

The Dodgers hadn't found too much danger in the Padres previously, winning seven of eight games and compiling a team batting average of .296.

The Dodgers had humbled San Diego by scores of 14-0, 9-1, 11-0 and 10-1 but the attack suddenly went pitty-pat against the Padres, who had dropped 19 of their last 21 starts and had been shut out victims in four of their past five games.

The Padres had lost 16

Eddie Fisher, the pitcher not the singer, showed up at Palm Springs this spring driving a pickup truck, talking with a hint of his native Oklahoma and carrying the kind of credentials that had the Angels bubbling whenever they talked about their bullpen.

The Halos figured, quite naturally, that with Fisher and Hoyt Wilhelm, two of the game's premier knuckleball artists, the bullpen was in able hands.

It started that way, too. In the first week of the season Fisher twirled four scoreless innings, picked up a save and Wilhelm added three saves as well.

That was the opening week of the season and since then they've enjoyed only so-so success. Nothing at all like opening week: Until Friday night, that is.

Fisher, the American League's "Fireman of the year" four years ago, came out of the pen in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader with Seattle to work five scoreless innings and pick up his first win of the year, 5-3, over the Pilots.

The Angels' bid for a doubleheader sweep, something they last managed to do a year ago today, went up in smoke early as Seattle tallied two in the first inning and held on a 5-2 victory.

"It feels awfully good to contribute something," smiled Fisher, who's now allowed the opposition just one run and five hits over the last 15 innings he's pitched.

Jay Johnstone, benched a week ago when his batting average sagged close to the .200 mark, had that same sort of feeling, too. Jay drove in the tie-breaking runs in the fourth inning, coming up as a pinchhitter and lacing a two-run single to left.

Fisher said he never got down on himself when he was having his troubles earlier in the season.

"You get into ruts," the 33-year-old relief specialist said. "Even the year I pitched in 82 games (in 1965, at the time an A.L. record) I went 10 or 12 days in a rut and all kinds of trouble."

"But Hoyt and I are constantly working with one another, trying to improve our pitch. A knuckleball is one you can experiment with. The thing we work on over and over is trying to keep the spin off the ball. That's what it's all about with a knuckleball."

Fisher had the Pilots spinning during his five rounds. He picked up for George Brunet in the fifth and allowed only one base runner, getting 15 of the 16 batters he faced.

"The important thing with any pitcher, especially a knuckleball pitcher, is work," Fisher pointed out. "I feel good. I could go an inning or two in the second game if they need me."

Rick Reichardt rifled his seventh homer of the season in the first round, a two-run job. The Angels added an unearned run in the third and then Johnstone busted up a 3-all draw with his pinch single in the fourth.

The Pilots got all their runs in the fourth, the big blow Ray Oyler's seventh homer.

Rookie Greg Washburn had a rough start in the second game as the Pilots jumped him for two runs in the first inning and two more in the third.

It was Washburn's second start in the bigs, neither one a success, and immediately after the game he was sent back to Hawaii to make room for Rudy May who returns to the club today.

BILLIE JEAN TRIUMPHS

Ageless Pancho Advances

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Indestructible Pancho Gonzales won his third match Friday and led a cordon of twelve Americans, six men and six women, into the fourth round of the All-England Tennis Championships.

Taking the court for the fourth-successive day, the graying, 41-year-old pro from Los Angeles swept past Ron Edleson of Berkeley, Calif., 6-4, 6-3, 6-3, becoming one of the half-dozen U.S. men's survivors in the round of 16.

The question was: How much longer can the aging warrior last?

Joining him in the fourth round were six Australians, including defending champion Rod Laver; Spain's Andres Gimeno, Cliff Drysdale of South Africa, Tom Okker of The Netherlands and Bobby Wilson of Britain.

The Americans, besides Gonzales, included Pancho's longtime protegee, Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., and the four members of the successful U.S. Davis Cup team, Arthur Ashe, Jr., Clark Graebner, Stan Smith and Bobby Lutz. Ashe, the highest American seed, and Lutz, who conquered the fourth-seeded Ken Rosewall, advanced Thursday, the others Friday.

The Australians matched the Americans man-for-man with Laver, Tony Roche, John Newcombe, Roy Emerson, Fred Stolle, and John Alexander, the last a scintillating youngster who won't be 18 until July 4. Laver had little trouble with Jan Leschly of Denmark in a battle of left-handers, winning 6-3, 6-3, 6-3.

and Nancy Richey, the little back court killer from San Angelo, Tex., paced the advance of six U.S. women into the fourth round.

Mrs. King, who seems to find inspiration here, found her oldtime form in crushing Marianna Brummer of South Africa 6-0, 6-4. Miss Richey cut down Peaches Bartkowicz of Hamtramck, Mich., 6-4, 8-6.

Other winners were

Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, who beat Julie Anthony of Santa Monica, Calif., 6-1, 6-3; Julie Heldman of New York, winner over Denise Carter of Los Altos, Calif., 6-2, 6-3; Kristy Pigeon of Danville, Calif., who beat Lea Pericoli of Italy, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2; and Margaret Michel of Pacific Palisades, Calif., a victor over Anita Van Deventer of South Africa 6-4, 6-2.

Kaweah Bar Seeks New Riches in Alamitos Feature Tonight

By DAVE DANIEL

"Gold!" That cry brought thousands of people flocking to California in search of riches in 1849.

Tonight, 120 years later, gold still can be found at Los Alamitos Race Course when Kaweah Bar headlines the first weekend program of night quarter horse racing.

Kaweah Bar, winner of 11 of 13 starts in 1968 and his will be the heavy favorite in the $7,000 Double Bid Purse and fans can get rich on it.

Kaweah Bar was selected as the quarter horse of the year last season, becoming only the third 2-year-old to win that honor.

He won a track record seven victories at Los Alamitos last year and clocked 17.5 over 350 yards — the fastest in history for his age at the Pomona meeting.

In his only start this year, the Alamitos Bar off-spring easily won at Bay Meadows, and his top contenders there also are included in tonight's card.

"Double Dibs" finished second, a half-length back of Kaweah Bar's 17.9 clocking, and will be trying to win the race named for her sire.

Barleo Rocket, which finished third, and Mackay B. Starr, fourth to Kaweah Bar, also are entered in the seven-horse field.

Rounding out the lineup are Witch Chic, Robin Ann Donlan and Ettabo. The latter two both race opening night in the featured Inaugural Purse.

Gilbert Apodaca was the riding star Friday night, booting home three winners, including Rica's Gold in the featured $6,000 Leo.

Apodaca is the fourth jockey during the first four nights of the meeting to chalk up a triple. William Strauss also registered a triple Friday as he won with Purse Grabber ($18.40) in the second, Swing Man ($9.40) in the fifth and Come On Deck ($6) in the ninth.

Rica's Gold was overlooked in the wagering by the crowd of 10,449 persons attending the races, and returned a huge $45.60, $8.20 and $4.60 across the board. Jaguar Rocket, the 3-5 favorite, finished a head behind the winner and paid $2.60 and $2.60, while the show price on Rhoda's Kicapu was $3.60.

Seagren-Pennel Duel Headlines AAU Meet

MIAMI (AP) — Boh Seagren calls the 18-foot pole vault "the most psychological barrier in track today," but both he and John Pennel agree that it could be breached in today's National AAU meet.

Channel 2, 1:30 p.m.

Pennel, who cleared 17 feet, 10 1/2 at Sacramento last Saturday to wipe out Seagren's world record of 17-9, predicted in fact that if conditions are right it will take 18 feet to win at Miami.

The Pennel-Seagren duel will be one of several highlights of a meet which drew a star-studded field of 450 athletes from the United States, Canada, Mexico and Central, and South America.

Jim Ryun, world record miler, gets a chance to avenge a stunning upset by Villanova's Marty Liquori in the recent NCAA championships. Liquori was clocked at 3:57.7, well below Ryun's world record of 3:51.1.

Olympic champion Lee Evans of San Jose State will have to wait, however, for a rematch with Curtis Mills of Texas A&M, who beat him in the NCAA 440-yard dash with a world record breaking 44.7 performance.

Mills, pleading exhaustion, did not enter the Miami meet.

Both Seagren and Pennel actually have vaulted 18 feet.

In the NCAA meet, Seagren said, "I was over the bar at 18 feet. I went over by four, maybe six inches. But after I had vaulted over, for some reason I brought my arm back up and tipped off the bar."

Pennel, the man who broke the 17-foot barrier for the first time, also said he has done 18 feet in practice, when the bar was taped on.

During his career, Pennel has shattered 15 poles; broken a wrist, cracked a heel, bruised a lung and damaged his back. But the 18-foot obsession keeps the 29-year-old going.

"I'd like to make 18 feet, go on a tour of Europe and then hang it up," he said.

The meet will be televised by CBS (2) starting at 1:30 p.m. PDT.

Pinson Propels Cards to 3-1 Win Over Cubs

CHICAGO (AP) — Vada Pinson's two-out single in the seventh inning shattered a perfect no-hit bid by Kenny Holtzman and was followed by Joe Torre's single and Mike Shannon's triple, rallying the St. Louis Cardinals to a 3-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs Friday.

A matinee crowd of 28,224 whooped it up as Holtzman, now 10-2, retired 20 consecutive batters before Pinson stroked a 1-2 pitch sharply into right field to break the Cub lefty's spell.

After moving ahead 2-1 against Holtzman in the seventh, the Cards worked OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Athletics, held to one hit for seven innings, pushed across a run in the eighth on an infield hit and a throwing error and edged the Chicago White Sox 1-0 Friday night.

The victory put the A's back into first place in the American League West by one-half game over Minnesota, which lost to Kansas City.

John (Blue Moon) Odom fired a four-hitter to win for the 10th time in 13 decisions. The tainted run made a loser of Billy Wynne, 2-1, who was working on a string of 20 scoreless innings.

So the Angels are denied their second win in a row, which they haven't managed to do in nearly a month. As one press boxer observed, "We must lead the league in one-game win streaks."

Landis Drought Ends as Red Sox Nudge Senators

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Reggie Smith drove in two runs with a homer and a single to lift the Boston Red Sox to a 4-2 triumph over the Washington Senators Friday night and help Bill Landis record a victory in his first starting assignment in more than a year.

Landis (1-2-3) pitched a four-hitter to win for the 10th time in 13 decisions. The tainted run made a loser of Billy Wynne, 2-1, who was working on a string of 20 scoreless innings.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fred Patek hit the second home run of his major league career and Steve Blass and Joe Gibbon combined in a three-hitter Friday night as the Pittsburgh Pirates snapped a five-game losing streak with a 3-1 victory over the New York Mets.

Coody, Not Moody Surges Ahead by 4

AURORA, Ohio (UPI) — Charles Coody, a 6-foot-2, 185-pound golfer from Abilene, Tex., calls himself just an average touring pro.

"If you took all the golfers on the tour and compared their games, I'd be right at the green," he says. "I'm not a real long driver, I'm not an exceptional wedge player or anything else."

Coody's description of himself sounded ironic today to 73 other golfers who qualified Friday for the final two rounds of the $10,000 Cleveland Open.

The 31-year-old burned up the par-70 Aurora Country Club Course Friday with a record tying 64, that left him with a 131, nine under par two-round total and a four-stroke lead.

Coody, looking for his first major victory since the 1964 Dallas Open, said he's never been that far ahead at 36 holes.

Coody had seven birdies and only one bogey. He missed only three greens, and had only 28 putts.

He said the windy courses in Texas had accustomed him to the gusty breeze at Aurora but added, "I still don't like it."

In last week's Kemper Open at Charlotte, N.C., Coody fired a final round

65 to take second place. He's been 16 under par in his last three rounds.

Tied for second as today's play began were Bruce Crampton, an Australian who lives in Dallas and plays out of the Bahamas, and John Schlee, also of Dallas, a 31-year-old pro who nearly quit the tour this winter. Both had 66-69-135.

Coody left far behind the two men tied with him for first at 67 after the first round Thursday, U.S. Open champion Orville Moody soared to a 67-78-145 and just made the cut while Jerry McGee, 25, of Elysburg, Penn., had a 76 for a 143 total.

Arnold Palmer had a 69 for 143. Jack Nicklaus stood at 73-68-141.

Closer to the leaders was Jim Colbert, 28, of Kansas City, Mo., who had a 67 Friday for a 136. Colbert played in Crampton's threesome and said the Australian's play "was so slow I lost my concentration."

The cut eliminated former Masters champions Bob Goalby, Gay Brewer, and Dale Douglass, winner in the Kemper last week.

LAKERS TO REVEAL COACH ON MONDAY

The Lakers said Friday they would select their new basketball coach at a news conference at the Forum Monday at 10 a.m.

Bill Van Breda Kolff resigned last month with one year remaining on a three-year contract with the National Basketball Assn. club to take the same post with the Detroit Pistons.

The Lakers won the Western Division title in the regular season race and lost to the Boston Celtics in the championship playoff series four games to three.

There was speculation the job would go to Joe Mullaney, the highly successful coach at Providence College. The Providence Journal-Bulletin carried that report last week.

Mullaney, 44, has been at Providence since 1955 after playing with Holy Cross and briefly with the Boston Celtics of the NBA.

His teams won the 1961 and 1963 National Invitation Tournaments in New York.

There also was speculation that Fred Schaus, the Lakers' general manager, would return to the coaching post. Schaus coached the Lakers for seven years before stepping down to go to the front office in 1967.

Richardson Suffers Loss in State Amateur

PEBBLE BEACH (Special) — John Richardson, the last Long Beach survivor, suffered a 1-up defeat to USC's Vic Loustalot in the third round of the 58th State Amateur golf championship Friday.

Richardson continued to play strong golf, making four birdies, but bogies on the 15th and 16th holes beat him. He narrowly missed 10-foot putts on the last two holes that would have pulled him even.

Forrest Fezler, 19-year-old San Jose star, was the only member of the younger set to reach the semifinals.

It was a switch from the usual pattern of this tournament which has been dominated in recent years by the under 30 crowd.

Joining Fezler in Saturday's 36-hole semifinals were Dick Runkle, 41, Los Angeles lawyer, Steve Stimac, 54, Walnut Creek druggist, and John Brodie, 33, San Francisco 49er quarterback.

Fezler played the best golf of the two rounds Friday, shooting two under par in both the morning and afternoon to register identical 5 and 3 victories over Ed Korylak of North Hollywood and Ted Lyford, the tournament medalist from Redlands.

Runkle, who was runner-up in 1959 and again in 1963, defeated Vic Loustalot of Sacramento with a birdie on the 20th hole after a see-saw afternoon match. Loustalot had hurdled two former champions, E. O. Pieper Jr., and Richardson.

Surprise of the day was Stimac, who turned back a pair of young rivals whose combined ages total only 40 years. Stimac beat Ray Arinno, 22, of Sacramento, and Rick Ewing, 18, Bakersfield. The score of both matches was 3 and 2.

Third round: Ted Lyford, Redlands, def. Steve Booy, Montebello, 1 up; Forrest Fezler, San Jose, def. Ed Korylak, North Hollywood, 3 and 2; Vic Loustalot, Sacramento, def. John Richardson, Long Beach, 1 up; Dick Runkle, Los Angeles, def. Barry Jaekel, Los Angeles, 3 and 2.

Steve Stimac, Walnut Creek, def. Ray Arinno, Sacramento, 3 and 2; Rick Ewing, Bakersfield, def. Jack Barilego, San Jose, 1 up; John Brodie, Palo Alto, def. W. C. Collin, Pebble Beach, 4 and 2; Bob Bradley, Los Angeles, def. Phil Arinno, Sacramento, 2 up.

Quarterfinals: Fezler def. Lyford, 5 and 3; Stimac def. Loustalot, 3 and 2; Brodie def. Bradley, 3 and 2.

McCarthy Hurls Three-Hitter, 49ers Romp, 7-1

ANAHEIM — Dan McCarthy limited Santa Ana to three hits Friday night while pitching the Long Beach 49ers to a 7-1 Orange County Baseball League triumph at La-Palma Park.

McCarthy, who struck out nine while raising his record to 3-0 and his team's mark to 4-1, received offensive support from Jim Carter, Jim Scida and Craig Kimber.

Carter walked twice and crashed two doubles, driving in three runs. Scida had three safeties and scored twice while Kimber had two hits, scored a run and drove in another.

The 49ers meet league-leading LaFonda at 1 p.m. Sunday at Memorial Park in Santa Ana.

Namath Studies 'Lineup'

MILTON, Mass. (UPI) — Controversial quarterback Joe Namath said Friday he and football commissioner Pete Rozelle got "a little closer" in their dispute over his New York restaurant during a two-hour closed door meeting the day before.

Namath, who announced he would retire from the New York Jets rather than sell the restaurant, Bachelors III, said he and the pro football commissioner would meet again next week, probably in Los Angeles, to continue talks.

Namath, here for a one-day stint as "visiting professor of quarterbacking" at Jim Colclough's summer football camp at Curry College, also revealed that he had studied more "mug shots" during the meeting with Rozelle on Thursday.

Toomey Holds Sizeable Lead in Decathlon

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (UPI) — Olympic champion Bill Toomey built up a sizeable lead at the half-way mark of the 51st National AAU Decathlon Championships at Bakersfield Memorial Stadium Friday night.

The 30-year-old school teacher from Santa Barbara, Calif., amassed 4,217 points in the first five events, giving him a near insurmountable lead over runnerup Rick Sloan, another U.S. Olympian who had 3,749.

Toomey is trying for his fifth consecutive AAU title, a string which he started in Bakersfield in 1965.

PRAYER AND A SMILE

JoAnn Prentice of Columbia, S.C., clasps hands together in a gesture of prayer trying to sink long putt while Peggy Wilson of Boca Raton, Fla., uses combination of body English and smile. Harriet Wins Title, Year's Free Play

By DOUG IVES
Staff Writer

On schoolteacher's pay, Harriet Glanville cannot hope to play the number of golf rounds she is accustomed to, especially in the summer when a quality player must play almost every day.

But Harriet has found a solution to her lack of finances. It is called the Long Beach Women's Golf Championship. It might as well be the Harriet Glanville Open.

For the sixth time in eight years, Miss Glanville won the city title Friday, and among her prizes was a year's free play on the L.B. public courses.

"I'm just the gal who can use that pass," said Harriet, who routed young Diane Keppen, 6 and 5, for one of her easiest victories in some years.

It takes a good memory to recall the two losses Harriet has suffered in eight years. The first was in 1964, to Donna Caponi, and the last to Jane Backer in 1967.

"I played well," said the Paramount teacher who resides in Long Beach and plays out of Meadowlark. Her scorecard, for 13 holes, showed 11 pars and two bogeys.

Miss Keppen, 20-year-old Cal State Fullerton student, had a bad day and was the first to admit,

"playing Harriet scared me. I just didn't do anything well."

That wasn't exactly true. Despite the lopsided loss, Diane won three holes, more than any other of Miss Glanville's victims in this tournament.

Two of the wins were achieved with birdie putts of 15 feet on the fourth hole and six feet on the seventh. The problem was, however, that Diane lost EVERY other hole through the eighth and trailed 4 down at the turn.

A par was good enough to cut that deficit to three on the 10th hole, but Miss Glanville wrapped up the victory by winning the 11th, 12th and 13th with pars.

Miss Keppen hit six traps and three-putted two greens, and it cost her five holes. As usual, Miss Glanville had a trouble-free round. Consistency is her game.

"She doesn't make mistakes," said an admirer. "Her game is sound and she plays with confidence."

Miss Glanville says she will play the Trans-Mississippi tournament in late July, defend her Santa Barbara City crown in early August, then go to Canada on a vacation.

Championship: Harriet Glanville (Meadowlark) def. Diane Keppen (Meadowlark) 6-5. Consolation: Virginia Martin (Stevens) def. Ruth Miller (California) 2-1.

First Flight: Joyce Skala (Alondra) def. Dorothy Kadan (Rancho) 1 up. Consolation: Madeline Moore (Globe) def. Cleo Williams (Griffin Park) 7-1.

Fourth Flight: Ann Calderone (Dowling) def. Wayne Backer (Lakewood) 3-1. Consolation: Jo Smith (El Dorado) def. Lucille Meador (Montebello) 6-5.

Fifth Flight: Reva Shepard (Lakewood) def. Kathy Wilber (Meadowlark) 1 up. Consolation: Geraldine Baker (Old Ranch) def. Dorothy May (Montebello) 1 up.

DESPITE HEAT Prentice Claims Women's Tee Lead

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UPI) — Jo Ann Prentice sank four birdies on broiling hot Scenic Hills course Friday to take the midway lead in the 17th U.S. Women's Open championship with a two under par 144 (73-71).

At the completion of the second round of play, the field of nearly 100 professional and amateur women golfers was cut to the top 40 scores and ties.

The 36-year-old Miss Prentice, a native of Birmingham, Ala., now living in Columbia, S.C., was followed by one stroke by blonde-headed Ruth Jensen of Palm Springs.

The tournaments early leader, Peggy Wilson of Boca Raton, Fla., double bogied the course's 16th hole and added another bogie to soar from two under to one over.

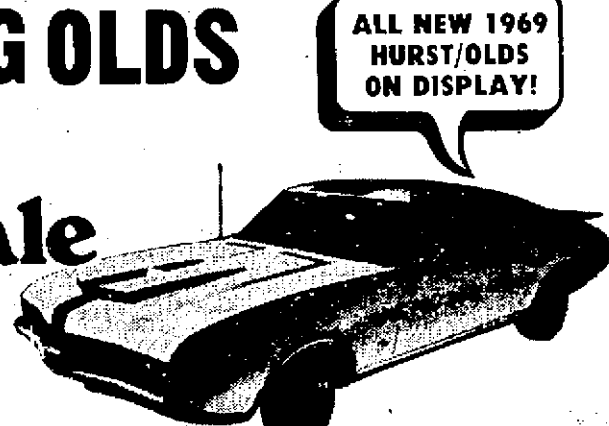

The steaming weather took its toll. Pam Higgins of Groveport, Ohio, quit on the back nine after suffering from heat.

By FRED CLAIRE
Staff Writer

SAN DIEGO — It is traditional for coaches of losing football teams to lock the clubhouse doors.

San Diego Padre manager Preston Gomez has made a habit of something very untraditional for baseball teams. Win or lose he locks the Padre clubhouse for 10 to 15 minutes.

Friday night's discussion in the Padre clubhouse was a pleasant one, and it wouldn't have been a surprise to hear champagne corks popping.

The Padres defeated the Dodgers 5-0 behind the six-hit pitching of Joe Niekro.

Niekro became the first

San Diego pitcher to hurl a shutout without assistance from the bullpen and the first Padre to go the distance this month.

Strangely, he became

DODGER OF DAY

TOM HALLER had two of the Dodgers six hits in a 5-0 loss to San Diego.

the second Niekro to beat the Dodgers during the past three nights.

Joe's brother, Phil of the Atlanta Braves, beat the Dodgers 5-3 Wednesday night. The Dodgers have lost only three of their past 11 games and two of the losses have been recorded by the Niekro brothers.

Dodger pitcher Don Sutton (11-6) was attempting to tie Phil Niekro as the top winner in the majors but brother Joe got in the way and recorded his third victory in eight decisions.

The victory snapped San Diego's 11-game losing streak. The Padres hadn't won a game since June 16 when they beat, you guessed it, the Dodgers 3-2.

The man who struck the blow which killed the Dodgers was a guy they call "The Bull". That would be ex-Dodger Al Ferrara, who slugged a three-run homer in the first inning after Walt Hrinak walked and Ollie Brown singled.

The Padres scored two more runs in the third on John Sipin's second home run and Ed Spiezio's double.

The Dodgers remained in first place by a half-game, as Atlanta lost to Houston. The only time the Dodgers haven't looked like a first place team recently is when they have been up against teams on prolonged losing streaks.

Montreal was burdened with a 20-game losing streak the longest in the majors since 1961 when the Expos got winning exposure by beating the Dodgers. And then Philadelphia snapped out of a nine game spin by beating the Dodgers.

"You can say what you want but it's no fun playing a team with a long losing streak," said Dodger manager Walt Alton. "Those teams are dangerous."

The Dodgers hadn't found too much danger in the Padres previously, winning seven of eight games and compiling a team batting average of .296.

The Dodgers had humbled San Diego by scores of 14-0, 9-1, 11-0 and 10-1 but the attack suddenly went pitter-patter against the Padres, who had dropped 19 of their last 21 starts and had been shutout victims in four of their past five games.

The Padres had lost 16

Eddie Fisher, the pitcher not the singer, showed up at Palm Springs this spring driving a pickup truck, talking with a hint of his native Oklahoma and carrying the kind of credentials that had the Angels bubbling whenever they talked about their bullpen.

The Halos figured, quite naturally, that with Fisher and Hoyt Wilhelm, two of the game's premier knuckleball artists, the bullpen was in able hands.

It started that way, too. In the first week of the season Fisher twirled four scoreless innings, picked up a save and Wilhelm added three saves as well.

That was the opening week of the season and since then they've enjoyed only so-so success. Nothing at all like opening week. Until Friday night, that is.

Fisher, the American League's "Fireman of the year" four years ago, came out of the pen in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader with Seattle to work five scoreless innings and pick up his first win of the year, 5-3, over the Pilots.

The Angels' bid for a doubleheader sweep, something they last managed to do a year ago today, went up in smoke early as Seattle tallied two in the first inning and held on a 5-2 victory.

"It feels awfully good to contribute something," smiled Fisher, who's now allowed the opposition just one run and five hits over the last 15 innings he's pitched.

Jay Johnstone, benched a week ago when his batting average sagged close to the .200 mark, had that same sort of feeling, too.

Jay drove in the tie-breaking runs in the fourth inning, coming up as a pinchhitter and lacing a two-run single to left.

Fisher said he never got down on himself when he was having his troubles earlier in the season.

"You get into ruts," the 33-year-old relief specialist said. "Even the year I pitched in 82 games (in 1965, at the time an A.L. record) I went 10 or 12 days in a rut and all kinds of trouble."

"But Hoyt and I are constantly working with one another, trying to improve our pitch. A knuckleball is one you can experiment with. The thing we work on over and over is trying to keep the spin off the ball. That's what it's all about with a knuckler."

Fisher had the Pilots spinning during his five rounds. He picked up for George Brunet in the fifth and allowed only one base runner, getting 15 of the 16 batters he faced.

"The important thing with any pitcher, especially a knucklerball pitcher, is work," Fisher pointed out. "I feel good. I could go an inning or two in the second game if they need me."

Rick Reichardt rifled his seventh homer of the season in the first round, a two-run job. The Angels added an unearned run in the third and then Johnstone busted up a 3-0 draw with his pinch single in the fourth.

The Pilots got all their runs in the fourth, the big blow Ray Oyler's seventh homer.

Rookie Greg Washburn had a rough start in the second game as the Pilots jumped him for two runs in the first inning and two more in the third.

It was Washburn's second start in the bigs, neither one a success, and immediately after the game he was sent back to Hawaii to make room for Rudy May who returns to the club today.

BILLIE JEAN TRIUMPHS

Ageless Pancho Advances

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Indestructible Pancho Gonzales won his third match Friday and led a cordon of twelve Americans, six men and six women, into the fourth round of the All-England Tennis Championships.

Taking the court for the fourth-successive day, the graying, 41-year-old pro from Los Angeles swept past Ron Edleson of Berkeley, Calif., 6-4, 6-3, 6-3, becoming one of the half-dozen U.S. men's survivors in the round of 16.

The question was: How much longer can the aging warrior last?

Joining him in the fourth round were six Australians, including defending champion Rod Laver; Spain's Andres Gimeno, Cliff Drysdale of South Africa, Tom Okker of The Netherlands and Bobby Wilson of Britain.

The Americans, besides Gonzales, included Pancho's longtime protege, Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., and the four members of the successful U.S. Davis Cup team, Arthur Ashe, Jr., Clark Grabner, Stan Smith and Bobby Lutz. Ashe, the highest American seed, and Lutz, who conquered the fourth-seeded Ken Rosewall, advanced Thursday, the others Friday.

The Australians matched the Americans man-for-man with Laver, Tony Roche, John Newcombe, Roy Emerson, Fred Stolle, and John Alexander, the last a scintillating youngster who won't be 18 until July 4. Laver had little trouble with Len Leschly of Denmark in a battle of left-handers, winning 6-3, 6-3, 6-3.

The amazing Gonzales next plays the big-serving Ashe, who outclassed the top pros in winning the U.S. Open last year at Forest Hills. Other pairings send Smith against Laver, Grabner against Gimeno, Ralston against Roche, Drysdale against Emerson, Stolle against Newcombe, Okker against Wilson and Lutz against Alexander.

Billie Jean King, seeking her fourth consecutive Wimbledon women's title,

and Nancy Richey, the little back court killer from San Angelo, Tex., paced the advance of six U.S. women into the fourth round.

Mrs. King, who seems to find inspiration here, found her oldtime form in crushing Marianna Brauner of South Africa 6-0, 6-4. Miss Richey cut down Peaches Bartkowicz of Hamtramck, Mich., 6-4, 8-6.

Other winners were

Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, who beat Julie Anthony of Santa Monica, Calif., 6-1, 6-3; Julie Heldman of New York, winner over Denise Carter of Los Altos, Calif., 6-2, 6-3; Kristy Pigeon of Danville, Calif., who beat Lea Pericoli of Italy, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2; and Margaret Michel of Pacific Palisades, Calif., a victor over Anita Van Deventer of South Africa 6-3, 6-2.

Kaweah Bar Seeks New Riches in Alamitos Feature Tonight

By DAVE DANIEL

"Gold"

That cry brought thousands of people flocking to California in search of riches in 1849.

Tonight, 120 years later, gold still can be found at Los Alamitos Race Course when Kaweah Bar headlines the first weekend program of night quarter horse racing.

Kaweah Bar, winner of 11 of 13 starts in 1968 and his will be the heavy favorite in the $7,000 Double Bid Purse and fans can get rich on it.

Kaweah Bar was selected as the quarter horse of the year last season, becoming only the third 2-year-old to win that honor.

He won a track record seven victories at Los Alamitos last year and clocked 17.5 over 350 yards — the fastest in history for his age, at the Pomona meeting.

In his only start this year, the Alamitos Bar offspring easily won at Bay Meadows, and his top contenders there also are included in tonight's card.

Double Dibs finished second, a half-length back of Kaweah Bar's 17.9 clocking, and will be trying to win the race named for her sire.

Barleo Rocket, which finished third, and Mackay B. Starr, fourth to Kaweah Bar, also are entered in the seven-horse field.

Rounding out the lineup are Witch Chic, Robin Ann Donlan and Etalabo. The latter two both race opening night in the featured Inaugural Purse.

Gilbert Apodaca was the riding star Friday night, booting home three winners, including Rica's Gold in the featured $6,000 Len.

Apodaca is the fourth jockey during the first four nights of the meeting to chalk up a triple. William Strauss also registered a triple Friday as he won with Purse Grabber ($18.40) in the second, Swing Man ($9.40) in the fifth and Come On Deck ($6) in the ninth.

Rica's Gold was overlooked in the wagering by the crowd of 10,449 persons attending the races and returned a huge $45.60, $8.20 and $1.60 across the board. Jaguar Rocket, the 3-5 favorite, finished a head behind the winner and paid $2.60 and $2.60, while the show price on Rhoda's Kicapu was $3.60.

Seagren-Pennel Duel Headlines AAU Meet

MIAMI 6P — Bob Seagren calls the 18-foot pole vault "the most psychological barrier in track today," but both he and John Pennel agree that it could be breached is today's National AAU meet.

Channel 2, 1:30 p.m.

Pennel, who cleared 17 feet, 10½ at Sacramento last Saturday to wipe out Seagren's world record of 17-9, predicted in fact that if conditions are right he will take 18 feet to win at Miami.

The Pennel-Seagren duel will be one of several highlights of a meet which drew a star-studded field of 450 athletes from the United States, Canada, Mexico and Central and South America.

Jim Ryan, world record miler, gets a chance to avenge a stunning upset by Villanova's Marty Liquori in the recent NCAA championships. Liquori was clocked at 3:57.7, well below Ryan's world record of 3:51.1.

Olympic champion Lee Evans of San Jose State will have to wait, however, for a rematch with Curtis Mills of Texas A&M, who beat him in the NCAA 100-yard dash with a world record breaking 44.7 performance. M.E.'s, pleading exhaustion, did not enter the Miami meet.

Both Seagren and Pennel actually have vaulted 18 feet.

In the NCAA meet, Seagren said, "I was over the bar at 18 feet, I went over by four, maybe six inches. But after I had vaulted over, for some reason I brought my arm back up and tipped off the bar."

Pennel, the man who broke the 17-foot barrier for the first time, also said he has done 18 feet in practice, when the bar was taped on.

During his career, Pennel has shattered 15 poles, broken a wrist, cracked a leg, landed a lung and damaged his back. But the 18-foot obsession keeps the 29-year-old going.

"I'd like to make 18 feet, go on a tour of Europe and then hang it up," he said.

The meet will be telecast by CBS (2) starting at 1:30 p.m. PDT.

Amerigo Lady, Gamely Duel in Rich Vanity 'Cap Today

The Rokeby Stable's Amerigo Lady arrived on the scene from New York Friday, ready to test the best in the west in today's $75,000-added Vanity Handicap for fillies and mares at Hollywood Park.

Trainer Elliott Burch said he hopes the hurry-up travel schedule works out as successfully as it did a week ago when the star of the stable, Fort Marcy, flew out and won the $100,000-added Hollywood Invitational Turf Handicap.

THE CURRAGH, Ireland (AP)—Ribofilio, the problem colt owned by Charles Engelhard of Short Hills, N.J., is the 11-4 favorite in today's eighth running of the Irish Sweeps Derby—a race which experts say could provide upsets on all sides.

Ribofilio, a son of the great sire Ribot, finished last in the 2,000 Guineas English Classic after being pulled up, and then wound up fifth in the English Derby.

Live All Days With Goodness

By Norman V. Peale

"I would like to talk to you about your days, this day and every day. It's a good thing to consider your days once in a while. A child thinks that time is limitless, but as he grows older, he becomes aware of the fact that time is passing. Now if you live to be 90, that's a total of 32,872 days of living. What are you going to do with the days you have left?"

In spite of all the troubles in the world, every day can be a good day. The Bible says, "This is the day which the Lord hath made; we will rejoice and be glad in it." Not every day is going to be an easy one. Life brings to each some share of pain, struggle, tears, sorrow and heartache. But even in a day that is full of suffering and difficulty, there lies hidden a suggestion of something good.

One of the surest ways of having good days for yourself is to help other people have good days for themselves. It always works!

A short time ago I was in Detroit giving a speech and I picked up a copy of the Detroit Free Press. There were two stories side by side on the front page. One was the story of a professor at a major university who was struck across the face with a two foot club by radical students during the seizure of a campus building. Right next to it was the story of the return of a hero from Vietnam. His name was Tom Van Putten.

Tom had finally escaped after 14 months as a prisoner of the Viet Cong. Everyone in his home town of Caledonia, Mich., turned out to welcome him home. They gave him a parade. Past streets with names like Maple and Church, the parade moved slowly. At the top of that story, there was a picture of Tom Van Putten saluting the flag. This had been taken at the airport. He had snapped into the salute suddenly and without warning, catching everyone off guard.

"People in the crowd blinked and the photographers scrambled into action. But when they had finished snapping, he still stood there, staring at the flag, his body rigid with the salute.

"His face was screwed tight and fierce and the wind whipped his green uniform close to his body. His gauntness was unmistakable and the people of Caledonia suddenly found it very hard to look at. Spec. 5 Thomas H. Van Putten standing alone in the bright spring sunshine saluting."

There's evil in the world, but there's faith in the world. There's patriotism in the world. There's goodness in the world.

If we handle problems with courage, recognizing the right to dissent, of course, but honoring such men as Tom Van Putten, this world will produce better days for all of us.

The world has its badness, but it has its goodness too. Robert Browning expressed it well:

"Meanwhile as the day wore on the trouble grew, Whereupon I guessed there would be born a star."

That is the insight of a very wise man.

When it grows dark is the time to start looking for stars. When a day or a succession of days is difficult, just remember that difficulty brings you nearer to some great thing.

One of the most helpful things my mother, a very wise woman, said to me was, "Norman, as you go through life you'll come to times when every door is shut, times when you'll have great opposition, but any time you find a lot of closed doors just keep on going, because that's the way God leads you to the open door, that He has in mind for you." The hard days may be the days by means of which you draw nearer to the greatest things.

MALE QUARTET APPEARS

A quartet from Grace College and Seminary in Winona Lake, Ind., will come to Long Beach Sunday to sing a 7 p.m. concert at First Brethren Church, 3601 Linden Ave. The group's repertoire ranges from folk to well-known gospel songs to sacred classics.

Expansion Proposed for Church of Christ

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Proposals for expansion of the United Church of Christ's work for racial and social justice are being presented to the General Synod, representative body of the denomination, during its current meetings in Boston, Mass.

The administrative committee of the church's Executive Council said it is holding with the black clergy of the denomination a series of consultations out of which the new proposals are expected to come.

The committee's statement declared that churches share "the guilt of society in general" in their treatment of blacks and other minorities. However, it said, "The United Church rejects 'demands' from any source that are accompanied by threats of violence and reprisals."

"It is our intention to be open to the spirit of God through the voices of our brethren and to respond to their needs in friendship and love."

The committee said it "declines to meet" demands presented to the church by James Forman in the name of the Black Economic Development Conference and will continue to channel its resources through agencies of the church.

The rejection of Forman's demands was in the text of a letter to Forman released by the committee as part of its statement. The letter also expressed disapproval of the "ideology" of the introduction to the "Black Manifesto," calling it "offensive to a Church committed to human brotherhood."

The United Church of Christ statement reviewed the history of the church's support for civil rights and economic and social justice for more than a century. It reported that "more than $3,000,000 is being spent annually on antipoverty and racial justice programs, mostly in cooperation with agencies of other churches."

Reaffirming the traditional position of the denomination, the committee declared: "The United Church of Christ rejects the concept of two societies 'one white and one black,' separate and unequal." It rejects the use of violence in the solution of social problems. It rejects the withdrawal of money and commitment from the effort of the poor to obtain freedom and dignity."

BOOKS

Bible Dictionary Well Researched

YOUNG READERS DICTIONARY OF THE BIBLE. Abingdon Press, $5.95.

This is more than a dictionary of the Bible and appropriate for "older" readers as well as the young.

Written in narrative style, it contains definitions of the most significant names, events and terms appearing in the Revised Standard Version of the Bible.

There are carefully researched and colorful illustrations, full-page maps, a time scale of biblical history and numerous other aids for the Bible reader.

Each definition includes references to passages in the Bible where the word appears. Following a geographical name there is a reference which locates it on one of the full-color maps.

The smooth style and hundreds of scripture references will guide one into a deeper study of the Bible.

With extra-large page size, this dictionary gives one a many-faceted light on the thoughts, places and people of the Bible. Rev. Belgium to Spend Semester in India

The Rev. Gerhard L. Belgium, pastor of St. Timothy Lutheran Church of Lakewood, has accepted an invitation to teach for a semester at Gurukul Theological College in Madras, India.

The invitation came from Dr. James Berquist, a Gurukul faculty member and former college student of Belgium's.

The Lakewood pastor, who has a master's degree from the Princeton Theological Seminary and a Ph.D. from Yale University, received the full support of the church council and the congregation in accepting the offer.

The semester extends from July 1 through Oct. 15. Before returning to his parish in November, Belgium plans to visit Lutheran Seminaries in Hong Kong, Taipei and Tokyo.

Assuming parish duties will be the Rev. Robert R. Westerhoff, ordained into the ministry and installed as assistant pastor of St. Timothy's June 15.

Westerhoff is a former Air Force officer, who resigned his commission in 1966 and enrolled at Lutheran Theological Seminary in St. Paul, Minn.

New English Bible in '70

The complete New English Bible, published jointly by Oxford University Press and Cambridge University Press, will be available throughout the world in March 1970.

The translation of the Old Testament and the Apocrypha brings the work to its conclusion.

The New Testament was published in March 1961, with one million copies in print on the day of publication. Estimates were that these would last a year; in fact four million were sold within that period, and the total sales to date are approximately seven million copies.

The translators, chosen for their scholarly qualifications, have produced this major work directly from Hebrew, Aramaic and Greek texts. Use of contemporary idioms close to the original meaning has been made possible by new knowledge of the Bibles and the biblical era. The publishers point out that the New English Bible is not the expression of any denominational or doctrinal leaning, nor is it intended to replace the King James Version.

The New Testament is now widely accepted in churches and schools for reading, teaching or worship.

Formed in 1947 to direct the new translation, a Joint Committee of representatives of the Church of England, the Church of Scotland, the Methodist Church, the Congregational Church, the Baptist Union, the Presbyterian Church of England, the Society of Friends, the Churches in Wales and in Ireland, the British and Foreign Bible Society and the National Bible Society of Scotland has been joined by Roman Catholic observers.

The New York offices of Cambridge and Oxford are supervising the printing and binding in the United States of copies to be sold here. Two editions will be available: A Standard Edition of the whole Bible in one volume, to be issued both with and without the Apocrypha; and a Library Edition of the Old Testament, the Apocrypha and a revised edition of the New Testament, in separate volumes.

Knowledge of Bible On Downward Trend

displayed not only in the number of wrong answers but in the wide margin by which students missed the mark when they tried to guess. For example, when asked to state the First Commandment, one student wrote:

"Be faithful to your wife."

The test results are discouraging, Hopkins feels, because "ignorance of the Bible and immaturity of faith usually go hand in hand."

In trying to account for the steady deterioration in Biblical knowledge which he has observed among college students since the end of World War II, Hopkins attached little importance to the Supreme Court's ban on devotional exercises in public schools. "Young people probably retained little specific Biblical information from school devotional exercises," he says.

He believes that part of the blame may be laid at the door of liberal theology. "A downgraded view of Scripture leads to diminished respect for the authority of the Bible," he says. "Those who are persuaded that the Bible is more a product of human culture than of Divine Revelation are unlikely to be dedicated to reverent study of it."

Gov. Reagan Will Headline Program

Governor Reagan will be the featured speaker at the Independence Day Celebration, July 4th, sponsored by the American Revival Committee in front of the full-scale replica of Independence Hall at Knott's Berry Farm, Buena Park.

The program will begin at 9:50 a.m. with the Marine Corps Band from Twenty-nine Palms, along with five area high school bands participating.

William J. Teague, vice president of Pepperdine College and chairman of the Independence Day planning committee, will emcee the event and introduce the governor.

The third annual Richard Henry Lee award will be presented to a patriot of national prominence. The recipient of this award is not announced until the day of the presentation.

Mrs. J. Simon Fluor, past Chaplain of the California Daughters of the American Revolution, will read a message from President Nixon and present a flag which has been flown over the Capitol in Washington, D.C. to Walter Knott.

The Cerritos College choir will present several patriotic numbers throughout the program. The first portion of the program, "A Cavalcade of Freedom," will feature a number of marching units and floats marking various historic moments in our nation's patriotic heritage. Included in this review will be flags of the 13 original states.

Climaxing the event at 11 a.m. will be the symbolic ringing of the Liberty Bell to coincide with the ringing in Philadelphia, of the original bell at 2 p.m.

Following the event there will be an old-fashioned ice cream social, served by the Boy Scouts of the Orange Empire and North Orange Councils.

War Survivor Now Top Pastor

A former Japanese prisoner of war, once court-martialed and condemned to die by an American military court, is serving as the leading Seventh-day Adventist minister in Okinawa.

Pastor Saburo Arakaki, minister of the largest Adventist church in Okinawa, appeared at the Garden of Eden Church last week to tell of his experiences.

He was born in Okinawa, but later moved with his parents to Saipan where he was a student during World War II. As the American troops took Saipan, 18-year-old Arakaki was taken prisoner and placed in a civilian prisoner of war camp. Although he was only a school boy at the time he was a "diehard" who refused to believe that Japan had lost the war.

Reports of Japan's surrender were believed to be American propaganda being used to subdue the spirit of the Japanese prisoners. A number of the prisoners began to believe the reports and collaborated with the American military authorities.

A Japanese military officer who had infiltrated the camp in the disguise of a civilian ordered Arakaki to assassinate the leader of the collaborators in order to show his authority among the prisoners.

After the assassination Arakaki fled the camp with his conspirators as they feared reprisals for the murder from the other prisoners. Later he killed another Japanese who had been sent to convince him that he should surrender.

In time he was forced to surrender and Arakaki was tricked into confessing the two murders. He was sentenced to death even though he was only obeying the orders of a Japanese officer. After the war the officer who ordered the murders was released without punishment and was sent back to Japan.

Arakaki was sent to prisons in Guam and later to Hawaii where his death sentence was changed to life imprisonment. While in prison he was contacted by a layman of the Seventh-day Adventist Church who led him to accept the principles of Christianity.

When it came time for him to be baptized by immersion he was allowed to go to the Adventist Church with only one unarmed guard for the ceremony since there were no facilities for baptizing in the prison.

The change that took place in his life was so remarkable that some of the most important men on the island, such as Gov. Samuel Wilder King and others, worked for his release because of the information released on his good conduct by the warden of Oahu Prison.

In April 1954 Arakaki was pardoned and returned to Japan after nine years in prison. He then entered Japan Missionary College, a Seventh-day Adventist training school, for three years of Christian and theological training.

It was at the college where he met and studied under Pastor Shinsai Hokama who was his Bible teacher and is now his host in Los Angeles. Hokama is pastor of the West Los Angeles Adventist Church.

After graduation he started his Christian witness as a self-supporting minister in Okayama, Japan. His zeal drew the attention of Adventist church leaders and he was sent as a full-fledged minister to the place of his birth, Okinawa.

Today at 42 he is pastor of the largest church of the denomination in the main city of Naha.

HITS 'DISBELIEVERS'

Baffled, Says Von Braun

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

Dr. Werner Von Braun, the German-born scientist who has played a major role in America's space program, is baffled by people who suggest that modern science has discredited belief in God.

As far as he is concerned, just the opposite is true.

Since he became director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's George C. Marshall Space Flight Center at Huntsville, Ala., Von Braun has joined the Episcopal Church and has become an avid reader of theological books.

He discussed his religious beliefs in a recent interview with Adon Taft, religion writer for the Miami Herald. The interview will be published in the July issue of the magazine Christian Life.

Von Braun said he finds it as difficult to understand a scientist who does not acknowledge the presence of a superior rationality behind the existence of the universe as it is to comprehend a theologian who would deny the advances of science.

Von Braun added: "There certainly is no scientific reason why God cannot retain the same position in our modern world that He held before we began probing His Creation with telescope and cyclotron."

The God which many people find it hard to believe in, Von Braun suggested, is actually a pathetic caricature constructed by limited human vision.

"Any effort to visualize God, to reduce Him to our comprehension, to describe Him in our language, beggars his greatness," the famous physicist said.

"I find it best to accept God as an intelligent will, perfect in goodness, revealing Himself in the world of experience more fully down through the ages as man's capacity for understanding grows."

Thus, in this age of space travel, which dramatizes the immensity of the universe, men must enlarge their concept of God and recognize that He is not a local deity of this planet but "the Creator and Master of everything."

GOINGS ON

Sound Generation in Sunday Church event

Knowledge of Bible on Downward Trend

Knowledge of the Bible among America's young people "is on a definitely downward trend."

That is the gloom conclusion of Dr. Joseph Martin Hopkins, who has been teaching a college Bible course for the past 23 years.

Hopkins is on the faculty of Westminster College, a Presbyterian church-related school at New Wilmington, Pa. Most of its students come from church-connected families and it seems fair to presume that their familiarity with the Bible is somewhat greater than that of the average American college student.

Last fall, Hopkins gave his students a 14-question quiz on the Bible. "As a class," he reports in the current issue of Christianity Today magazine, "they flunked miserably."

Only 18 per cent were able to "name the book which tells the history of the early church." (The answer is, the Acts of the Apostles, or just Acts.)

Fewer than one out of four could quote one of the Beatitudes from Jesus' Sermon on the Mount. Even in questions which require only the most cursory acquaintance with the Bible, the scores were, in Hopkins' word "appalling."

When was the last time you attended Sunday School and Church where the Bible was used in such a way as to afford security to the believer? The answer to the perplexing problems of life can be found in Christ.

We invite you to worship with us this Lord's Day. Calvary has something to offer you — security. Come to Calvary, Calvary is for you!

Jacob, the Patriarch of Israel, had 12 sons, and their activities get considerable space in the Book of Genesis. The students were asked to name just one — any one — of Jacob's sons. Only 23 per cent came up with a correct answer.

Can you name the Fourth Gospel? Only half of the students knew that it bears the name of John. Biblical illiteracy was

YARD FULL OF SURPRISES

In Every Barrel, a Story

Story and Photos
By DICK EMERY

"Waterfront."

The word here means the harbor's edge—59 miles of piers, wharves, berthing space and cargo loading platforms in eight square miles of Long Beach, Wilmington, San Pedro and Terminal Island.

Back of the waterfront are more square miles of industrial district, much of it grimy, smoky, noisy and smelly.

It's a down-to-earth district of gargantuan industries—oil refineries, shipyards, sprawling docks, steel and chemical plants—and of Lilliputian industries—tiny one-family businesses where you can get a lamp wrapped, or a spoon engraved, or a poodle shipped to Iceland.

Half a mile back from Wilmington's Consolidated Slip of Los Angeles Harbor, on Alameda Street, with auto junk yards and dryland boat storage yards for neighbors, stands a bold sign by which you know you have reached the Zavatsky Barrel & Drum Co.

YOU PARK ON A DIRT SIDE-ROAD and enter between stacks of barrels. Cats and kittens galore scam from your path. The barrels—black, red, yellow, white and aluminum-painted—shade the office, a quaint retreat full of cats, kittens, desks, hard-hats, fans and telephones.

"People leave us the cats," says Marvin Zavatsky,

40-year-old ex-Navy firecontrolman who runs the third-generation Zavatsky barrel business.

"We don't need any more cats. About barrels, we carry barrels and drums, all kinds, all sizes—there's a story about barrels."

Every kind of barrel has a story. Some are hard to believe. But, listen!

"We have a customer who comes up from Mexico bringing four-gallon cans of frozen clams to the wholesale fish markets at San Pedro."

"He gets from us the same kind of cans, empty and clean, to take back—but he also wants empty olive-oil barrels."

"Now, these are 57-gallon steel drums which come from Spain full of olive oil, to the fish canneries. They've still got a little olive oil in them, but he doesn't care, because he takes them to haul water or gasoline back to the villages."

"GASOLINE MIXES WELL WITH the olive oil. And the villagers don't mind the taste of olive oil in the water, so the barrels are OK."

"Down there in Mexico, they really wear out a bar-

L.B. Schools Move 61 Administrators

By RALPH HINMAN JR.
Education Editor

Each June the Board of Education—as it did Friday in special session—routinely reshuffles school administrative posts.

Approved Friday were 61 reassignments, including elimination of five central office jobs and the naming of three new junior high school principals.

HOWEVER, some anticipated cutbacks were not made. As a result, a quartet of smaller elementary schools this fall will be headed by four fulltime principals instead of two half-timers.

Affected are Naples, Los Cerritos, Bryant and Burroughs, where residents and PTAs vehemently protested possible budget-cutting reductions disclosed in early June. About $31,000 could be saved in a tight budget by making the changes, officials estimated.

A LETTER from Louis A. Cook Jr., director of elementary schools, to parent groups in the four neighborhoods indicates their principals "will be delegated certain additional responsibilities." But "after careful consideration, the Board—on the recommendation of Supt. W. Odie Wright—decided to continue for 1969-70, the present plan of assigning fulltime principals" there.

Dropped from the central office staff were three consultants—in secondary and elementary education, art—plus two teacher assistants dealing with music and special projects.

Former art consultant Dorothy C. Buerger has retired and the other four employees were transferred into already-existing vacancies.

The three new junior high school principals, their new assignment and former job, are: Robert E. Ellis, Hughes, assistant personnel director; Alvin L. Resnik, Franklin, early childhood education supervisor; and Donald F. Smith, Stephens, Jordan High School vice principal.

Among other changes:

CITY COLLEGE

William C. Barnes Jr., to assistant dean-student affairs, from assistant personnel director; Martha O. Drage, to associate dean-nursing and health technologies, from health division chairman; Richard L. Jones, to collegewide assistant dean, from extension campus assistant dean.

Activists Honest, Peace Group Told

By WALT MURRAY
Staff Writer

When students criticize American society, they're applying the open-mindedness adults taught them, a well-known historian told Long Beach Citizens for Peace Friday night.

Dr. Kurt Bergel, head of the history department at Chapman College, called today's students "infinitely more honest than their parents and grandparents."

"They are not yet skillful in closing their eyes to unpleasant facts" such as the hypocrisies of the Vietnam war, racial inequality and social injustice, he said.

HE SAID THIS GENERATION had not enjoyed great success in solving the political and economic ills of the world, "so we can hardly talk like experts about these problems."

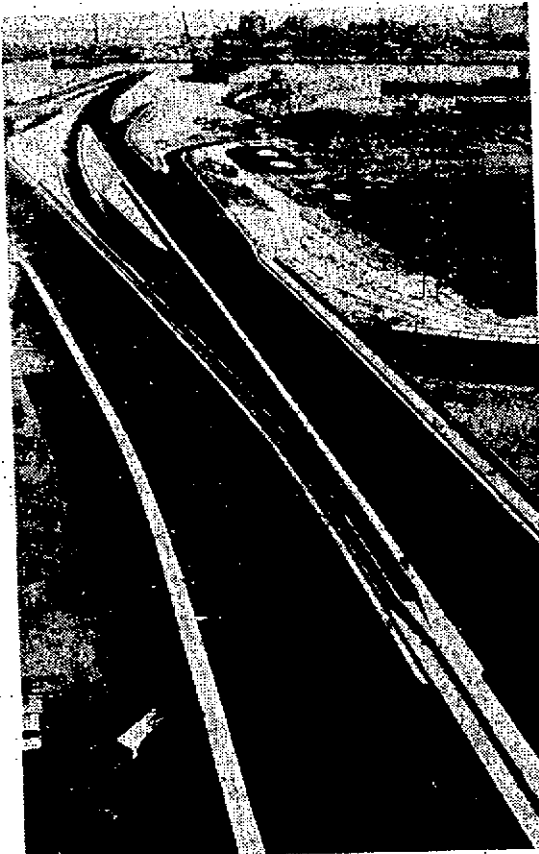

Dr. Bergel, speaking at the Long Beach Unitarian Church, said he much preferred today's activist students to the apathetic students of 10 to 15 years ago "who couldn't care less about hunger and war in the world."

"Today's students are deeply shaken by these problems," he said. "When you are deeply shaken, sometimes you express your concern in undesirable ways."

"That's the price we have to pay for involvement," Dr. Bergel, who said many students find themselves alienated from the adult community, noted this alienation often heightens "ugly forms of expression such as violence."

He said that all forms of violence are "boomerangs"—those who use violence usually have it used on them in return.

But he emphasized Americans have been a violent people throughout their history and student violence should surprise no one.

ROAD TO NOWHERE...

Approaches to the Magnolia Avenue Bridge which, as can be seen at the top of the photograph, now lead nowhere. When the bridge—being constructed in Oakland for shipment here in September—is in place it will allow easy access from Pacific Terrace to Pier J. A 600-ton capacity crane will hoist the giant bridge spans into place upon their arrival.

L.B. Not Alone in Bay Criticism

It is not true Long Beach was the only city to oppose legislation extending and expanding the powers of the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission, Councilman Emmet M. Sullivan said Friday.

Furthermore, he said, Long Beach opposed only that portion of the legislation which "gave an appointed committee the power to confiscate property in the city."

Long Beach councilmen "did not oppose the anti-pollution or conservation parts" of the proposed bills, Sullivan said.

He noted the mayors of Alameda County's 13 cities voted unanimously June 12 to oppose the Knox-Petrus bill, which would expand the authority of the BCDC.

Alameda County mayors said they were against further filling of San Francisco Bay "as a matter of principle," Sullivan reported, but had "heated objections" to BCDC being given authority over portions of their cities.

Shore Folk Protest Drive-Through Spots

By DON BRACKERBURY
Staff Writer

Belmont Shore could become "another Haight-Ashbury" unless steps are taken to control drive-through restaurants and the "rowdy" crowds they attract, several dozen Shore residents complained Friday.

By petitions and several individual letters, the Shore residents protested establishment of a proposed new drive-through eating place at the northwest corner of Covina Avenue and Second Street.

"Our beautiful area is being spoiled by this terrible blight of litter, the type of people who patronize these places and the rowdiness exhibited," wrote Mrs. Frances Spaulding, 178 La Verne Ave.

The petition, signed by almost 40 persons, was more blunt.

"In addition to the hippie element, drug addicts and pushers, hoodlums loitering, we have litter, food and food containers, beer and whiskey bottles, and bicycles sprawling all over the narrow sidewalks," it charged.

The petition also asked, "who is paying for all the extra police protection that has been required since the Jack-in-the-Box opened up—the property owners or the Jack-in-the-Box?"

"THERE HAVE BEEN a rash of robberies in this area, homes broken into, and people are afraid to walk and shop after dark," the petition continued.

"If these conditions aren't corrected, Belmont Shore will become another San Francisco Haight-Ashbury."

Mr. and Mrs. Will Swaney, 121 Park Ave., said the Jack-in-the-Box, "through no fault of their own," attracts a "rowdy and sloppy crowd."

Byrne Nelson, 208 Corona Ave., who said he owns $100,000 worth of rental property in the area, pointed out there already are five drive-in restaurants along Second Street in Belmont Shore, and said policing is "impossible."

IF YOU WISH to see a Haight Ashbury district created in Belmont Shore, the proposed Yummers Co. drive-through would be a gigantic step in that direction," Nelson declared.

The letters and petitions primarily opposed establishment of the Yummers Co. establishment, but also urged the City Council to look into the problem of controlling such businesses.

I, P-T REPORTER EXCELS

Story of Boy Donor Wins

A special kind of reporter told the story of "A Special Kind of Kid" so effectively the National Newspaper Association said Friday the story won second place in the 1969 Better Newspaper competitions.

Mary Neiswender took the award for her compelling story about an 11-year-old traffic accident victim whose vital organs were transplanted in efforts to save the lives of four others.

The story of the boy's gift of life appeared exclusively Sunday, May 5, 1968, in the pages of the Independent Press-Telegram.

"Little Danny Sochor was a special kind of kid," Mrs. Neiswender's story began.

MARY NEISWENDER

Danny's brief, and busy life, but the tragic circumstances that brought the other four principals to the point where young Sochor's organs could benefit them.

They were Chester Garbacz, 43, of Claremont; Herman Holloway, 34, of Los Angeles; an unidentified Santa Ana youth, age 20, and Mrs. Janet McLane, 24, of Riverside. The two men suffered kidney failure, the youth had leukemia, and Mrs. McLane was a burn victim.

Within minutes of young Sochor's death, his vital organs were being readied—a kidney to each of the men, his spleen to the youth and life-sustaining, scar-covering skin to the young mother.

AID PROGRAMS BACKFIRE

HUD Official Sees Strife

By CHARLES HINCH
Staff Writer

Too often the government's locations for assistance programs for Negroes and Mexicans are turning into battlegrounds between the two races, a Nixon appointee said Friday in Long Beach.

Samuel J. Simmons, assistant secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, spoke to the national convention of the League of United Latin American Citizens.

About 1,000 Mexican-Americans, from various Western states are attending the meeting in the Edgewater Hyatt House, here through Sunday.

Simmons, a Negro, said conflicts are occurring over "who controls the funds who runs the programs and who gets the jobs." "It's got to stop," Simmons said, "the Negro and the Mexican-Americans are going to have to sit down to define and settle on areas where there can be agreement and where they can cooperate.

"It doesn't make sense that programs designed to bring them together are driving them apart."

Simmons, appointed to HUD in November, was previously director of field operations for the United States Commission on Civil Rights.

At a press conference, he urged the Administration to:

Live All Days With Goodness

By Norman V. Peale

I would like to talk to you about your days, this day and every day. It's a good thing to consider your days once in a while. A child thinks that time is limitless, but as he grows older, he becomes aware of the fact that time is passing. Now if you live to be 90, that's a total of 32,872 days of living. What are you going to do with the days you have left?

In spite of all the troubles in the world, every day can be a good day. The Bible says, "This is the day which the Lord hath made; we will rejoice and be glad in it." Not every day is going to be an easy one. Life brings to each some share of pain, struggle, tears, sorrow and heartache. But even in a day that is full of suffering and difficulty, there lies hidden a suggestion of something good.

One of the surest ways of having good days for yourself is to help other people have good days for themselves. It always works!

A short time ago I was in Detroit giving a speech and I picked up a copy of the Detroit Free Press. There were two stories side by side on the front page. One was the story of a professor at a major university who was struck across the face with a two foot club by radical students during the seizure of a campus building. Right next to it was the story of the return of a hero from Vietnam. His name was Tom Van Putten.

Tom had finally escaped after 14 months as a prisoner of the Viet Cong. Everyone in his home town of Caledonia, Mich., turned out to welcome him home. They gave him a parade. Past streets with names like Maple and Church, the parade moved slowly. At the top of that story, there was a picture of Tom Van Putten saluting the flag. This had been taken at the airport. He had snapped into the salute suddenly and without warning, catching everyone off guard.

"People in the crowd blinked and the photographers scrambled into action. But when they had finished snapping, he still stood there, staring at the flag, his body rigid with the salute.

"His face was screwed tight and fierce and the wind whipped his green uniform close to his body. His gauntness was unmistakable and the people of Caledonia suddenly found it very hard to look at. Spec. 5 Thomas H. Van Putten standing alone in the bright spring sunshine saluting."

There's evil in the world, but there's faith in the world. There's patriotism in the world. There's goodness in the world. If we handle problems with courage, recognizing the right to dissent, of course, but honoring such men as Tom Van Putten, this world will produce better days for all of us.

The world has its badness, but it has its goodness too. Robert Browning expressed it well:

"Meanwhile as the day wore on the trouble grew, Whereupon I guessed there would be born a star."

That is the insight of a very wise man.

When it grows dark is the time to start looking for stars. When a day or a succession of days is difficult, just remember that difficulty brings you nearer to some great thing.

One of the most helpful things my mother, a very wise woman, said to me was, "Norman, as you go through life you'll come to times when every door is shut, times when you'll have great opposition, but any time you find a lot of closed doors just keep on going, because that's the way God leads you to the open door that He has in mind for you." The hard days may be the days by means of which you draw nearer to the greatest things.

MALE QUARTET APPEARS
A quartet from Grace College and Seminary in Winona Lake, Ind., will come to Long Beach Sunday to sing a 7 p.m. concert at First Brethren Church, 3601 Linden Ave. The group's repertoire ranges from folk to well-known gospel songs to sacred classics.

Expansion Proposed for Church of Christ

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Proposals for expansion of the United Church of Christ's work for racial and social justice are being presented to the General Synod, representative body of the denomination, during its current meetings in Boston, Mass.

The administrative committee of the church's Executive Council said it is holding with the black clergy of the denomination a series of consultations out of which the new proposals are expected to come.

The committee's statement declared that churches share "the guilt of society in general" in their treatment of blacks and other minorities. However, it said, "The United Church rejects 'demands' from any source that are accompanied by threats of violence and reprisals."

"It is our intention to be open to the spirit of God through the voices of our brethren and to respond to their needs in friendship and love."

The committee said it "declines to meet" demands presented to the church by James Forman in the name of the Black Economic Development Conference and will continue to channel its resources through agencies of the church.

The rejection of Forman's demands was in the text of a letter to Forman released by the committee as part of its statement. The letter also expressed disapproval of the "ideology" of the introduction to the "Black Manifesto," calling it "offensive to a Church committed to human brotherhood."

The United Church of Christ statement reviewed the history of the church's support for civil rights and economic and social justice for more than a century. It reported that "more than $3,000,000 is being spent annually on antipoverty and racial justice programs, mostly in cooperation with agencies of other churches."

Reaffirming the traditional position of the denomination, the committee declared: "The United Church of Christ rejects the concept of two societies 'one white and one black, separate and unequal.' It rejects the use of violence in the solution of social problems. It rejects the withdrawal of money and commitment from the effort of the poor to obtain freedom and dignity."

displayed not only in the number of wrong answers but in the wide margin by which students missed the mark when they tried to guess. For example, when asked to state the First Commandment, one student wrote:

The test results are discouraging, Hopkins feels, because "ignorance of the Bible and immaturity of faith usually go hand in hand."

Rev. Belgium to Spend Semester in India

The Rev. Gerhard L. Belgium, pastor of St. Timothy Lutheran Church of Lakewood, has accepted an invitation to teach for a semester at Gurukul Theological College in Madras, India.

The invitation came from Dr. James Berquist, a Gurukul faculty member and former college student of Belgium's.

The Lakewood pastor, who has a master's degree from the Princeton Theological Seminary and a Ph.D. from Yale University, received the full support of the church council

New English Bible in '70

The complete New English Bible, published jointly by Oxford University Press and Cambridge University Press, will be available throughout the world in March 1970.

The translation of the Old Testament and the Apocrypha brings the work to its conclusion.

The New Testament was published in March 1961, with one million copies in print on the day of publication. Estimates were that these would last a year; in fact four million were sold within that period, and the total sales to date are approximately seven million copies.

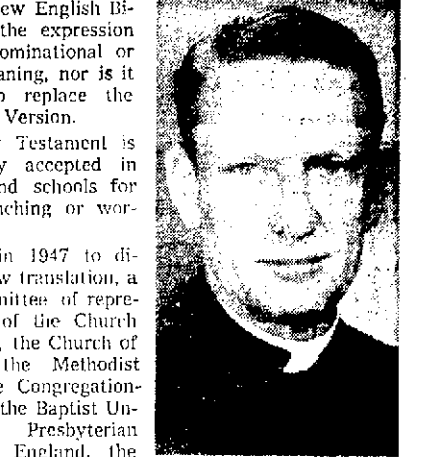

The translators, chosen for their scholarly qualifications, have produced this major work directly from Hebrew, Aramaic and Greek texts. Use of contemporary idioms close to the original meaning has been made possible by new knowledge of the Bi-and the congregation in accepting the offer.

The semester extends from July 1 through Oct. 15. Before returning to his parish in November, Belgium plans to visit Lutheran Seminaries in Hong Kong, Taipei and Tokyo.

Assuming parish duties will be the Rev. Robert R. Westerhoff, ordained into the ministry and installed as assistant pastor of St. Timothy's June 15.

Westerhoff is a former Air Force officer, who resigned his commission in 1966 and enrolled at Lutheran Theological Seminary in St. Paul, Minn.

Barrels Tell Stories from Wide World

rel. Sooner or later, those olive-oil barrels will get sawed in half, to make two big wash tubs. That's what the frozen-clam man tells me."

The odd-size olive barrels, or drums—"a barrel has an open end, a drum has both ends covered"—are only a few gallons smaller than the biggest type barrel on the Zavatsky lot.

"Take a look at these big, fat wooden barrels! They come from Italy, full of pepperoncini—little green pickled peppers."

Zavatsky tells you, man to man, eye to eye, his family motto, originating a century ago with his great-great Uncle Izaak, founder of the barrel dynasty, who fled Czarist terrorists for a happier life in America—bringing, among a few other treasures, his cooper's hoop-driver, a steel tool for tightening barrel hoops.

"Fiber barrels come from all over the world, with dry commodities—ground up rubber for erasers, say. We clean 'em up and sell 'em to shippers and the barrels go all over the world again."

They're made in the U.S., or for U.S. companies abroad.

"Five-or-six-gallon buckets, which flavoring for ice cream comes in, we sell to Mexican dealers for smudge pots—you know, to burn oil in, to protect crops from freezing."

"Big steel drums—55-gallons—come from Japan full of de-greasing fluid. Or, some are built in Delaware and filled with corn syrup in Kansas City, for a big bakery in Long Beach."

"We sell the big steel drums to marinas for floats, to chemical companies for refilling, or to big construction jobs like the Queen Mary or the Magnolia Bridge, for metal scrap bins."

"THE MOTTO," THE PRESENT Zavatsky says, "is, 'There's not one thing you can look at with the human eye that wasn't one time in a barrel!'"

He puts the hoop-driver to work against one of the splendid old oaken Italian pickled-pepper barrels, tapping the tool with a blacksmith's hammer.

"Wooden barrels are hard to get," he says. "Down in Mexico, they make musical instruments out of wooden barrels, sort of marimbas."

"Take even a five-gallon can, they cut 'em in two for wash basins, and finally open 'em out flat for siding on shacks."

"Everybody's after little rough wooden kegs to build lamps and stools and tables out of. I used to get a lot from West Germany. They came full of wire for bra factories—you know, wire in bras. Now they come from Japan and France."

"The little wooden kegs are like nail kegs, a little, except the nail keg is smaller, and has wire bands instead of steel straps."

THE MOST EXPENSIVE BARREL around the Zavatsky lot, the company's spokesman said, tapping the barrel with the ancient hoop-driver so a dandy musical bell-like booming came forth, is a barrel-within-a-barrel. "It's from Japan, a plastic barrel inside a steel barrel," he said, "and it brings soya sauce from Japan to America."

Zavatsky, who lives at 2803 Monogram Ave. in Long Beach with his wife, two sons and daughter, succeeded to the Wilmington company operation long headed by his father, Jacob Zavatsky, who learned about the barrel business from his great-uncle Izaak, who picked up the lore of barrels in Kiev, in the Russian Ukraine, back in the 1800s.

Study Fund Request OK'd

An application for $396,044 in federal funds to help finance a community analysis program in Long Beach has been authorized by the City Council.

If granted, the money would be used to study

the entire city to determine the overall improvement needs and to develop a program to meet them. City Manager John R. Mansell said the study would cover the entire city, both residential and nonresidential.

$704,417 Federal Grant Brings Huntington Park a Step Closer

Construction of Huntington Central Park in Huntington Beach took another step toward reality Friday when the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development approved a grant of $704,417 to buy more property.

near Golden West Street and Talbert Avenue, the only undeveloped freshwater lake in the area. The city now owns 57 acres there.

The 145-acre area, when completed, will be a regional park, with boating and fishing, picnicking, children's play area, sports fields and camping in addition to a recreation center, rustic village and po-

Boat Builder Goularte Will Be Buried Monday

Private funeral services will be held Monday for retired boat builder Manuel S. Goularte, who died Thursday at the age of 74.

Goularte, of 1714 Erie Ave., was well known in the boating industry for 53 years. He built pleasure boats from time to time, but concentrated on commercial boats, purse seiners, tuna clippers, taxis and tugs.

His fishing boats include the Chicken of the Sea, Columbus, Sea Raider, Belle Isle, Gallant and Welfare, which range from 70 to 125 in length.

His first boat was the historic 30-foot sloop Butcher Boy, which was entered the Lipton Cup races.

DURING World War II, Goularte was superintendent of construction at the Victory Shipbuilding Corp. of Newport Harbor.

Goularte, who at one time had a boat yard in Wilmington, was born in San Diego and began his career there at his own Goularte Boat Shop. Other firms for whom he designed and built boats include Garbutt and Walsh of Terminal Island, Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Drydock Co., Park and Kibek of San Pedro, and the Long Beach Boat Shop. He had been in Long Beach 47 years.

Survivors include his wife Bessie R.; three daughters, Mrs. Elsie L. Bass of Santa Ana, Mrs. Marion E. McArthur and Mrs. Betty J. Moore; four grandchildren and two sisters, Mrs. Virginia Finnegan and Mrs. Mary Fadden of San Diego.

Funeral services will be under direction of Motell's Mortuary.

In addition to normal playground activity, the City Recreation Department will offer instruction and competition in such

'MINI-EXPO' CARAVAN SLATES VISIT TO L.B.

A "mini-Expo" caravan, one of two touring the United States this summer to promote the 1970 World Exposition in Osaka, Japan, will visit Long Beach on July 12.

Among exhibits in the caravans will be scale models of the Osaka fairgrounds, and of the American and Canadian pavilions. There also will be displays contrasting the ancient cultures of Japan with its modern-day progress.

The caravan visiting Long Beach will make two stops.

It will arrive on July 12 at 10 a.m. at Lincoln Park, and will be welcomed by Mayor Edwin W. Wade, who is a member of the U.S. Commission promoting participation in the World Exposition.

Following brief ceremonies, the caravan will be opened to visitors on Pacific Avenue south of Broadway, adjacent to the Yokkaichi Garden in Lincoln Park, and will remain there until noon.

At noon, it will be moved to Fourth Street and Pine Avenue, where it will again be open to the public during the afternoon.

Accompanying the caravan will be officials of the Japan Association for the 1970 World Exposition, executives and hostesses of Expo '70 and of Japan Air Lines, the fair's official carrier.

Expo '70, which is scheduled to have more than 70 participating nations, will be the first world's fair ever held in Asia.

Teen Drug Abuse Center Opens

A drug-prevention center, aimed at reaching teen-agers before they begin drug use, has been opened by a Christian organization in Orange County.

The Wilkerson Drug Prevention Program, sponsored by Wilkerson Youth Rallies, has been established at 1112 N. Homer St., Anaheim, and is open 24 hours a day.

Bill Miner, who directs the program, says objectives include sponsoring school seminar sessions on drug use, more drug information centers, a 24-hour telephone hot line service for consultation on drug problems, and a home placement service for homeless, troubled teenagers.

TELE-VUES

Antibleep Choices in Tones of Blues

By TERRY VERNON
For Vacationing George Eres

If your "thing" leans toward the blue side, you've three choices.

Movies are dirtier than ever. So you might try that.

Or you could arrange for tickets for a Johnny Carson taping. Johnny's audience gets all the things that are bleeped out on the screen.

In fact, the other night, Carson even censored the bleep, and played only for the studio audience a tape of a fluff that guest Lowell Thomas had let go on the air years ago.

Or if other avenues are closed, you might try Metromedia.

TONIGHT'S "John Lennon Special," for instance, at 11 o'clock, channel 11, bears the following self-explanatory subtitle:

"John and Yoko Have a Message for the World from Their Bed in the Queen Elizabeth Hotel in Montreal."

In the lavish hotel suite, the pajama-clad Lennons are joined by a group of others who "do their own thing," plus Yoko's daughter by a previous marriage, Kyoko.

The latter, incidentally is the only one of the group who appears at all upset by the presence of cameras when her mother is in such informal attire.

John tells of his philosophy for peace, while Yoko explains how she and her mate have been labeled as "the world's ugliest couple."

A recording company executive gets into the act with a plug for Lennon's new "Ballad of John and Yoko."

And a song and dance prayer ritual is offered by the Krishna Consciousness Society to their Hindu god, Hari Krishna.

The entire half-hour "bed-in" is hosted by Canadian disc jockey Rodney Chandler of Montreal's CFOX... who, incidentally, puts on a show six nights a week from his own bedroom.

WANT MORE? Well, perhaps you'll recall a special boxed in our Sunday Tele-Vues magazine the middle of May.

It told of "Anything Goes," a Metromedia probe of the new morality in books, movies and television, along with the reactions from various sections of the country.

It was to screen at 7 p.m. on Saturday, May 17. But on Friday, May 16, KTTV executives saw the tapes.

Did they kill the show entirely for local airing?

O no—they simply decided that the content was better suited for an adult audience and at a later hour.

And you'll finally get your chance two weeks from Sunday at 11 p.m. to hear from the author of "Hard Contract," the publisher of a sex tabloid, the author of "Che," the importer of "I Am Curious—Yellow" and some others.

For the John and Yoko bedroom party, though, the kiddies will have their chance.

After tonight's late-night run there'll be a repeat.

It's set for 6:30 p.m. on July 11, so there'll be a chance for even the littlest ones to watch.

FOLLOWERS of the daytime serials have not been forgotten by KNXT.

Both "Love of Life" and "Search for Tomorrow" will be preempted here Monday for coverage of the inauguration of Mayor Sam Yorty on the steps of City Hall.

But the two shows will be shifted to a later hour that day so you won't miss a thing. Check your Sunday TV section for the one-time slots.

Only 'Julia' Survives of 20 That Started

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Last fall about 20 shiny new television series left the starting gate in prime time hours.

Now, almost a year later, the results are in, and they ain't good.

Eight were canceled. One was shunted off to another network.

Only "Julia," starring singer Diaphann Carroll, finished the season among the top 10 shows in the Nielsen ratings.

SUCH OTHER name stars as Phyllis Diller, Bobby Morse and Don Rickles hit the dust without a renewal. Diaphann succeeded not as a singer but an actress playing the part of a nurse in a family situation show which received lukewarm critical praise.

Why of all the new shows was the single big winner "Julia"?

Miss Carroll modestly gives credit to the scripts and the production values provided by Hal Kantor.

"It's impossible not to get involved with the children in the story," she said the other day, beginning the new season's work.

"Their charm is indisputable. Little Marc Co-page, who plays my son, is so believable that I have people around the country writing me in the belief he really is my child.

"I have a daughter, Suzanne, who is 8 years old, and she's not sure how she feels about that."

It is more than the charm of the show's youngsters that put "Julia" in the top 10.

BARREL BARON GIVES BUSINESS A LIFT
Marvin Zavatsky Hefts Another Steel Drum on Stack

YARD FULL OF SURPRISES

Story and Photos
By DICK EMERY

"Waterfront."
The word here means the harbor's edge—59 miles of piers, wharves, berthing space and cargo loading platforms in eight square miles of Long Beach, Wilmington, San Pedro and Terminal Island.
Back of the waterfront are more square miles of industrial district, much of it grimy, smoky, noisy and smelly.
It's a down-to-earth district of gargantuan industries—oil refineries, shipyards, sprawling docks, steel and chemical plants—and of Lilliputian industries—tiny one-family businesses where you can get a lamp wrapped, or a spoon engraved, or a poodle shipped to Iceland.
Half a mile back from Wilmington's Consolidated Slip of Los Angeles Harbor, on Alameda Street, with auto junk yards and dryland boat storage yards for neighbors, stands a bold sign by which you know you have reached the Zavatsky Barrel & Drum Co.

YOU PARK ON A DIRT SIDE-ROAD and enter between stacks of barrels. Cats and kittens galore scam from your path. The barrels—black, red, yellow, white and aluminum-painted—shade the office, a quaint retreat full of cats, kittens, desks, hard hats, fans and telephones.

"People leave us the cats," says Marvin Zavatsky.

40-year-old ex-Navy firecontrolman who runs the third-generation Zavatsky barrel business.
"We don't need any more cats. About barrels, we carry barrels and drums, all kinds, all sizes—there's a story about barrels."
Every kind of barrel has a story. Some are hard to believe. But, listen!
"We have a customer who comes up from Mexico bringing four-gallon cans of frozen clams to the wholesale fish markets at San Pedro.
"He gets from us the same kind of cans, empty and clean, to take back—but he also wants empty olive-oil barrels.
"Now, these are 57-gallon steel drums which come from Spain full of olive oil, to the fish canneries. They've still got a little olive oil in them, but he doesn't care, because he takes them to haul water or gasoline back to the villages.
"GASOLINE MIXES WELL WITH the olive oil. And the villagers don't mind the taste of olive oil in the water, so the barrels are OK.
"Down there in Mexico, they really wear out a bar-

L.B. Schools Move 61 Administrators

By RALPH HINMAN JR.
Education Editor

Each June the Board of Education — as it did Friday in special session — routinely reshuffles school administrative posts.

Approved Friday were 61 reassignments, including elimination of five central office jobs and the naming of three new junior high school principals.

HOWEVER, some anticipated cutbacks were not made. As a result, a quartet of smaller elementary schools this fall will be headed by four fulltime principals instead of two half-timers.

Affected are Naples, Los Cerritos, Bryant and Burroughs, where residents and PTAs vehemently protested possible budget-cutting reductions disclosed in early June. About $31,000 could be saved in a tight budget by making the changes, officials estimated.

A LETTER from Louis A. Cook Jr., director of elementary schools, to parent groups in the four neighborhoods indicates their principals "will be delegated certain additional responsibilities." But "after careful consideration," the Board — on the recommendation of Supt. W. Odie Wright — decided to continue for 1969-70, the present plan of assigning fulltime principals there.

Dropped from the central office staff were three consultants — in secondary and elementary education, art — plus two teacher assistants dealing with music and special projects.

Former art consultant Dorothy C. Buerger has retired and the other four employees were transferred into already-existing vacancies.

The three new junior high school principals, their new assignment and former job, are: Robert E. Ellis, Hughes, assistant personnel director; Alvin L. Resnik, Franklin, early childhood education supervisor; and Donald F. Smith, Stephens, Jordan High School vice principal.

Among other changes:

CITY COLLEGE

William C. Barnes Jr., to assistant dean-student affairs, from assistant personnel director; Martha O. Drage, to associate dean-nursing and health technologies, from health division chairman; Richard L. Jones, to collegewide assistant dean, from extension campus assistant dean.

Charles A. Kane, moved to acting associate dean-student affairs, from student affairs director; Beverly L. O'Neill, to associate dean-liberal arts campus, from instructor.

Activists Honest, Peace Group Told

By WALT MURRAY
Staff Writer

When students criticize American society, they're applying the open-mindedness adults taught them, a well-known historian told Long Beach Citizens for Peace Friday night.

Dr. Kurt Bergel, head of the history department at Chapman College, called today's students "infinitely more honest than their parents and grandparents."

"They are not yet skillful in closing their eyes to unpleasant facts" such as the hypocrisies of the Vietnam war, racial inequality and social injustice, he said.

HE SAID THIS GENERATION had not enjoyed great success in solving the political and economic ills of the world, "so we can hardly talk like experts about these problems."

Dr. Bergel, speaking at the Long Beach Unitarian Church, said he much preferred today's activist students to the apathetic students of 10 to 15 years ago "who couldn't care less about hunger and war in the world."

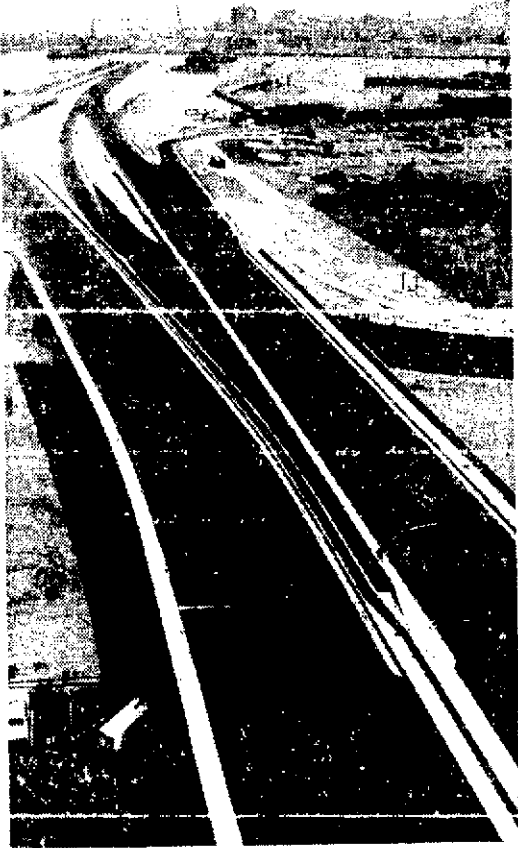

"Today's students are deeply shaken by these problems," he said. "When you are deeply shaken, sometimes you express your concern in undesirable ways."

"That's the price we have to pay for involvement."

Dr. Bergel, who said many students find themselves alienated from the adult community, noted this alienation often heightens "ugly forms of expression such as violence."

He said that all forms of violence are "boomerangs" — those who use violence usually have it used on them in return.

But he emphasized Americans have been a violent people throughout their history and student violence should surprise no one.

ROAD TO NOWHERE . . .

Approaches to the Magnolia Avenue Bridge which, as can be seen at the top of the photograph, now lead nowhere. When the bridge — being constructed in Oakland for shipment here in September — is in place it will allow easy access from Pacific Terrace to Pier J. A 600-ton capacity crane will hoist the giant bridge spans into place upon their arrival.

L.B. Not Alone in Bay Criticism

It is not true Long Beach was the only city to oppose legislation extending and expanding the powers of the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission, Councilman Emmet M. Sullivan said Friday.

Furthermore, he said, Long Beach opposed only that portion of the legislation which "gave an appointed committee the power to confiscate property in the city."

Long Beach councilmen "did not oppose the anti-pollution or conservation parts" of the proposed bills, Sullivan said.

He noted the mayors of Alameda County's 13 cities voted unanimously June 12 to oppose the Knox-Petris bill, which would expand the authority of the BCDC.

Alameda County mayors said they were against further filling of San Francisco Bay "as a matter of principle," Sullivan reported, but had "heated objections" to BCDC being given authority over portions of their cities.

Shore Folk Protest Drive-Through Spots

By DON BRACKERBURY
Staff Writer

Belmont Shore could become "another Haight-Ashbury" unless steps are taken to control drive-through restaurants and the "rowdy" crowds they attract, several dozen Shore residents complained Friday.

By petitions and several individual letters, the Shore residents protested establishment of a proposed new drive-through eating place at the northwest corner of Covina Avenue and Second Street.

"Our beautiful area is being spoiled by this terrible blight of litter, the type of people who patronize these places and the rowdiness exhibited," wrote Mrs. Frances Spaulding, 178 La Verne Ave.

The petition, signed by almost 40 persons, was more blunt.

"In addition to the hippie element, drug addicts and pushers, hoodlums loitering, we have litter, food and food containers, beer and whiskey bottles, and bicycles sprawling all over the narrow sidewalks," it charged.

The petition also asked, "who is paying for all the extra police protection that has been required since the Jack-in-the-Box opened up — the property owners or the Jack-in-the-Box?"

"THERE HAVE BEEN a rash of robberies in this area, homes broken into, and people are afraid to walk and shop after dark," the petition continued.

"If these conditions aren't corrected, Belmont Shore will become another San Francisco Haight-Ashbury."

Mrs. and Mrs. Will Swanney, 121 Park Ave., said the "Jack-in-the-Box, 'through no fault of their own' attracts a 'rowdy and sloppy crowd.'"

Byrne Nelson, 206 Corona Ave., who said he owns $300,000 worth of rental property in the area, pointed out there already are too signs in restaurants along Second Street in Belmont Shore, and said policing is "impossible."

IF YOU WISH to see a Haight-Ashbury district created in Belmont Shore, the proposed Yummers Co. drive-through would be a gigantic step in that direction," Nelson declared.

The letters and petitions primarily opposed establishment of the Yummers Co. establishment, but also urged the City Council to look into the problem of controlling such businesses.

Hippies Litter Lawmaker's Pad

One aspect of the hippie and drug abuse problem was brought home — literally — to Long Beach Assemblyman Mike Cullen.

Police told the Democratic lawmaker a group of hippies had "crashed" his Bixby Knolls "pad," and taken up unauthorized residence for eating, sleeping and partying with wine and drugs.

Cullen, author of a bill to suspend for a year the driver's licenses of 16 and 17-year-olds convicted of having dangerous drugs or narcotics in their autos, is living in Sacramento during the current legislative session.

His bill, previously passed by the Assembly, was approved by a 21-4 Senate vote Friday and returned to the lower house for minor amendments.

BUT HIS LA LINDA DRIVE HOUSE is a shambles, according to patrolmen Charles Gay and Richard Martinson, who were sent to the residence after neighbors complained of suspicious activities.

A 17-year-old boy was arrested while walking to the front door and booked into city jail on suspicion of possessing dangerous drugs after several amphetamine tablets were found in his pockets.

But a carload of youngsters — described as hippie types — fled in a car when the officers approached.

The officers, who said the house was a "highly messy," said remains of the hippies' "party" believed to have lasted several days, included wine stains on rugs, scores of discarded liquor bottles, strewn debris and two pair of men's shoes.

The hippies, however, brought their own mattresses to sleep on, because Cullen had placed his furniture in storage when he went to Sacramento, officers said.

The number of mattresses indicated about eight "guests" had been using Cullen's house.

I, P-T REPORTER EXCELS

Story of Boy Donor Wins

A special kind of reporter told the story of "A Special Kind of Kid" so effectively the National Newspaper Association said Friday the story won second place in the 1969 Better Newspaper competitions.

Mary Neiswender took the award for her compelling story about an 11-year-old traffic accident victim whose vital organs were transplanted in efforts to save the lives of four others.

The story of the boy's gift of life appeared exclusively Sunday, May 5, 1968, in the pages of the Independent Press-Telegram.

"Little Danny Sochor was a special kind of kid," Mrs. Neiswender's story began.

And in gripping words she chronicled, not only

MARY NEISWENDER
A Special Reporter

Danny's brief, and fussy life, but the tragic circumstances that brought the other four principals to the point where young Sochor's organs could benefit them.

They were Chester Garbacz, 43, of Claremont; Herman Holloway, 34, of Los Angeles; an unidentified Santa Ana youth, age 20; and Mrs. Janet McLane, 24, of Riverside. The two men suffered kidney failure, the youth had leukemia, and Mrs. McLane was a burn victim.

Within minutes of young Sochor's death, his vital organs were being readied — a kidney to each of the men, his spleen to the youth and life-sustaining, scar-covering skin to the young mother.

The story of Danny Sochor was chosen from among 2,800 entries representing newspapers throughout the nation. The I, P-T also won honorable mention for newspaper promotion.

AID PROGRAMS BACKFIRE HUD Official Sees Strife

By CHARLES HINCH
Staff Writer

Too often the government's locations for assistance programs for Negroes and Mexicans are turning into battlegrounds between the two races, a Nixon appointee said Friday in Long Beach.

Samuel J. Simmons, assistant secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, spoke to the national convention of the League of United Latin American Citizens.

About 1,000 Mexican-Americans from various Western states are attending the meeting, in the Edgewater Hyatt House, here through Sunday.

Simmons, a Negro, said conflicts are occurring over "who controls the funds,

GILBERT ROLAND
Saturday Speaker

who runs the programs and who gets the jobs."

the Mexican-Americans are going to have to sit down to define and settle on areas where there can be agreement and where they can cooperate.

"It doesn't make sense that programs designed to bring them together are driving them apart."

Simmons, appointed to HUD in November, was previously director of field operations for the United States Commission on Civil Rights.

Earlier Robert Ornelas, league president of the 100,000-member group, expressed disappointment with the Nixon Administration's approach to Mexican-American issues.

At a press conference, he urged the Administration to:

rel. Sooner or later, those olive-oil barrels will get sawed in half, to make two big wash tubs. That's what the frozen-clam man tells me."

The odd-size olive barrels, or drums—"a barrel has an open end, a drum has both ends covered"—are only a few gallons smaller than the biggest type barrel on the Zavatsky lot.

"Take a look at these big, fat wooden barrels! They come from Italy full of pepperoncini—little green pickled peppers.

"The 50-gallon wooden barrels over there come from Holland full of pickled onions for martinis."

Zavatsky tells you, man to man, eye to eye, his family motto, originating a century ago with his great-great Uncle Izaak, founder of the barrel dynasty, who fled Czarist terrorists for a happier life in America—bringing, among a few other treasures, his cooper's hoop-driver, a steel tool for tightening barrel hoops.

"Fiber barrels come from all over the world, with dry commodities—ground up rubber for erasers, say. We clean 'em up and sell 'em to shippers and the barrels go all over the world again.

They're made in the U.S. or for U.S. companies abroad.

"Five-or-six-gallon buckets, which flavoring for ice cream comes in, we sell to Mexican dealers for smudge pots—you know, to burn oil in, to protect crops from freezing.

"Big steel drums—55-gallons—come from Japan full of de-greasing fluid. Or, some are built in Delaware and filled with corn syrup in Kansas City, for a big bakery in Long Beach.

"We sell the big steel drums to marinas for floats, to chemical companies for refilling, or to big construction jobs like the Queen Mary or the Magnolia Bridge, for metal scrap bins.

"THE MOTTO," THE PRESENT Zavatsky says, "is, 'There's not one thing you can look at with the human eye that wasn't one time in a barrel!'"

He puts the hoop-driver to work against one of the splendid old oaken Italian pickled-pepper barrels, tapping the tool with a blacksmith's hammer.

"Wooden barrels are hard to get," he says. "Down in Mexico, they make musical instruments out of wooden barrels, sort of marimbas."

"Take even a five-gallon can, they cut 'em in two for wash basins, and finally open 'em out flat for siding on shacks.

"Everybody's after little rough wooden kegs to build lamps and stools and tables out of. I used to get a lot from West Germany. They came full of wire for bra factories—you know, wire in bras. Now they come from Japan and France.

"The little wooden kegs are like nail kegs, a little, except the nail keg is smaller and has wire bands instead of steel straps.

THE MOST EXPENSIVE BARREL around the Zavatsky lot, the company's spokesman said, tapping the barrel with the ancient hoop-driver so a dandy musical bell-like booming came forth, is a barrel-within-a-barrel. "It's from Japan, a plastic barrel inside a steel barrel," he said, "and it brings soya sauce from Japan to America."

Zavatsky, who lives at 2803 Monogram Ave. in Long Beach with his wife, two sons and daughter, succeeded to the Wilmington company operation long headed by his father, Jacob Zavatsky, who learned about the barrel business from his great-uncle Izaak, who picked up the lore of barrels in Kiev, in the Russian Ukraine, back in the 1890s.

Study Fund Request OK'd

An application for $396,044 in federal funds to help finance a community analysis program in Long Beach has been authorized by the City Council.

If granted, the money would be used to study the entire city to determine the overall improvement needs and to develop a program to meet them.

City Manager John R. Mansell said the study would cover the entire city, both residential and nonresidential.

$704,417 Federal Grant Brings Huntington Park a Step Closer

Construction of Huntington Central Park in Huntington Beach took another step toward reality Friday when the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development approved a grant of $704,417 to buy more property.

The money, which must be matched with local funds, will buy 88 acres around Huntington Lake, near Golden West Street and Tildert Avenue, the only undeveloped freshwater lake in the area. The city now owns 57 acres there.

The 145-acre area, when completed, will be a regional park, with boating and fishing, picnicking, children's play area, sports fields and camping in addition to a recreation center, rustic village and po-

Boat Builder Goularte Will Be Buried Monday

Private funeral services will be held Monday for retired boat builder Manuel S. Goularte, who died Thursday at the age of 74.

Goularte, of 1714 Erie Ave., was well known in the boating industry for 53 years. He built pleasure boats from time to time, but concentrated on commercial boats, purse seiners, tuna clippers, taxis and tugs.

His fishing boats include the Chicken of the Sea, Columbus, Sea Raider, Belle Isle, Gallant and Welfare, which range from 70 to 125 in length.

His first boat was the historic 30-foot sloop Butcher Boy, which was entered the Lipton Cup races.

DURING World War II, Goularte was superintendent of construction at the Victory Shipbuilding Corp. of Newport Harbor.

Goularte, who at one time had a boat yard in Wilmington, was born in San Diego and began his career there at his own Goularte Boat Shop. Other firms for whom he designed and built boats include Garbutt and Walsh of Terminal Island, Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Drydock Co., Park and Kihok of San Pedro, and the

Schools, City Parks Primed for Summer Play Program

The summer recreation schedule goes into effect Monday at 56 schools, 35 city parks, playgrounds and recreation centers and 14 aquatic centers in Long Beach.

In addition to normal playground activity, the City Recreation Department will offer instruction and competition in such things as baseball, swimming, tennis and sailing.

Instruction also will be given in arts and crafts, dancing, drama, puppetry, guitar-playing, and nature study.

There will be play days, day camping, beach days, community programs, fishing groups, youth clubs, senior citizens tours, and "tiny tot" programs.

The schedule for school and city playgrounds will be Mondays through Fridays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. City facilities also will be open Saturdays during the same hours and some major city recreation centers will offer night programs.

SWIMMING instruction will be offered at various high school pools, at Silverado Park pool, Belmont Plaza Olympic Pool, and at Marine Stadium, Colorado Lagoon and Alamitos Bay.

The summer program will run through Aug. 29 at the school playgrounds. At city facilities, the program will continue through Sept. 12.

More than 350 recreation leaders underwent an orientation program last week in preparation for the annual summer activities.

'MINI-EXPO' CARAVAN SLATES VISIT TO L.B.

A "mini-Expo" caravan, one of two touring the United States this summer to promote the 1970 World Exposition in Osaka, Japan, will visit Long Beach on July 12.

Among exhibits in the caravans will be scale models of the Osaka fairgrounds, and of the American and Canadian pavilions. There also will be displays contrasting the ancient cultures of Japan with its modern-day progress.

The caravan visiting Long Beach will make two stops.

It will arrive on July 12 at 10 a.m. at Lincoln Park, and will be welcomed by Mayor Edwin W. Wade, who is a member of the U.S. Commission promoting participation in the World Exposition.

Following brief ceremonies, the caravan will be opened to visitors on Pacific Avenue south of Broadway, adjacent to the Yokkaichi Garden in Lincoln Park, and will remain there until noon.

At noon, it will be moved to Fourth Street and Pine Avenue, where it will again be open to the public during the afternoon.

Accompanying the caravan will be officials of the Japan Association for the 1970 World Exposition, executives and hostesses of Expo '70 and of Japan Air Lines, the fair's official carrier.

Expo '70, which is scheduled to have more than 70 participating nations, will be the first world's fair ever held in Asia.

Teen Drug Abuse Center Opens

A drug-prevention center, aimed at reaching teen-agers before they begin drug use, has been opened by a Christian organization in Orange County.

The Wilkerson Drug Prevention Program, sponsored by Wilkerson Youth Rallies, has been established at 1112 N. Homer St., Anaheim, and is open 24 hours a day.

Bill Minor, who directs the program, says objectives include sponsoring school seminar sessions on drug use, more drug information centers, a 24-hour telephone hot line service for consultation on drug problems, and a home placement service for homeless, troubled teenagers.

MEMORIAL FUND BREAKFAST SET

Susan Mazze Rites Sunday

Memorial services for Susan Mazze, Orange County's first kidney transplant patient, will be held Sunday at noon at Temple Beth Shalom, 13031 Tustin Ave., Santa Ana.

The 17-year-old Villa Park High School senior died Thursday of complications from the operation, performed 23 days ago at Orange County Medical Center.

Susan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Mazze, had been in critical condition at the hospital for 11 days.

Mrs. Mazze had donated one of her kidneys in hopes of saving her daughter's life.

The family requests that no flowers be sent, but that contributions be made to the Susan Mazze Fund in care of Baggott Mortuary, Anaheim.

Contributing to the fund will be the United Citizens Band Radio Association of Orange County, which will donate the proceeds from its second annual pancake breakfast Sunday.

The breakfast will be held from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Pearson Park, Harbor Boulevard and Cypress Avenue, Anaheim. Tickets may be purchased at the breakfast.
